AT THE THEATRES

COLUMBIA SHOWS MOUNTED POLICE FEATURE STORY

The excitement all occurred during the filming of backwoods sequences in "Red Riders of Canada," a dramatic tale, of the Royal North West Mounted Police, pictured by F.B.O. at the Columbia Theatre.

Harry Woods, the villain who plays the part of "The Buzzard" in "The Red Riders of Canada" had claimed to be a Nunrood and modestly admitted that he threw a "mean fly."

Hence, when he was not working on the picture he obtained permission from Robert De Lacy, the director, to go fishing on the big lake at which the movie camp had been made.

Woods left early in the morning and didn't come back at lunch, so De Lacy thought he must be catching plenty of the fish that were jumping in the lake.

At any rate, when the supper bell boomed across the lake, members of the cast had shouted for the missing member and he had not returned. Guides were sent out in canoes to find him and "bring in the body."

Half an hour later, yawning drowsily, Harry paddled slowly in after one of the guides while members of the company crowded around to help him carry in the fish.

When asked where his catch was, Woods, in an embarrassed way, reached in his pocket and drew forth for the admiring gaze of the company one minnow, six and a half inches in length.

COLISEUM PLAYERS PLEASING CROWDS IN SPLENDID SHOW

With one of their best offerings since coming to Victoria, the Coliseum Players, under the direction of Raymond "Toby" Leitch, are appearing all this week in an excellent stage attraction entitled "The Law of the North," and so far have pleased capacity houses at the Coliseum Theatre. The picture, "The First Kiss," is also exceptionally good and, together with the stage play, makes up a splendid double bill.

The settings of the play this week are laid in the great white north of Canada. The story revolves around a number of people who live near the Arctic circle. The scenery is well chosen and pleasing, and the cast is at its best. Miss Leone Webber, the leading lady, has a good role, and as usual pleases everyone. Mr. Leitch provides plenty of comedy and succeeds in creating roars of laughter from the beginning of the play until the final ringing down of the curtain. Others in the company who are also turning in pleasing performances are Miss Ada Daniels, Miss Esther Todd, Forrest Taylor, Paul Wallace, Leon Cluff and Lorus Bagnley.

Fay Wray and Gary Cooper have the leading roles in the screen attraction this week and so far have pleased all who have seen "The First Kiss." This double bill will be presented every evening for the balance of the week, with a matinee performance on Saturday afternoon.

"STOLEN LOVE" IS FEATURE OFFERING AT THE PLAYHOUSE

It was primarily thought the temporary loss of sight of Blanche Frederici, now playing at the Playhouse Theatre, in the FBO picture "Stolen Love," embarked on a venture which ultimately took her to Hollywood and a screen career. Miss Frederici studied voice and drama under many of the country's greatest masters and at the age of twenty was concert company. Impaired vision forced her to take up stage work, which, after gaining widespread recognition, she left to become a character actress in films.

SOUTH SEAS FORM SETTING OF FILM AT THE DOMINION

One of the most historic spots in the South Seas was selected by director W. S. Van Dyke as the locale of the native village in "White Shadows in the South Seas." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's synchronized sound picture of tropical romance and adventure now playing at the Dominion Theatre.

The village was located near the native settlement of Arie on the Island of Tahiti, 8,000 miles from Los Angeles. It was built on the seashore near the spot where the great captains, Wallace, Cook and other explorers anchored their vessels.

To this spot also came the first missionaries ever sent to the islands of the Pacific. They built their homes and labored for years among the natives without gaining one convert. Here, also, and within the memory of living men, human sacrifices were frequently made to Tane, the chief of the Gods, at the temple sites in the valley.

Three hundred natives of the old pure stock, the finest types to be found in the islands, were selected to inhabit this motion picture village. Once these Tahitians understood that "White Shadows in the South Seas" would constitute an everlasting memorial to their vanishing race, they labored diligently to engrave their history on celluloid.

AMUSING COMEDY PROMISES LAUGHS AT THE CAPITOL

For probably the first time a comedy situation was acted and photographed in complete darkness. Although motion picture comedies invariably follow the rule of lights, more lights and additional lights, one scene in "The Wright Idea," Johnny Hines' latest First National picture produced by C. C. Burr, was made in the dark and is now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

Proportionally more money is spent in lighting equipment, electricity and man power to manipulate the powerful movie arcs in making film comedies than dramas.

But in "The Wright Idea," one sequence in the picture is inky black. It furnishes one of the biggest laughs in the story and brings the picture to a smashing finish. The story, written by Jack Townley, a Hollywood newspaper man, deals with the invention of a blotterless and luminous ink, and

Bright Play At Garden Friday

Co-optimist Comedy Company Will Produce "The Duchess of Bayswater"

"The Duchess of Bayswater," a brilliant farce comedy in two acts dealing with the capitulation of impoverished aristocracy to commercialism, will be presented by the Co-optimist Comedy Company at the Crystal Garden tomorrow night.

This scintillating comedy was written by A. M. Heathcote and enjoyed a long run at Haymarket Theatre, London, when it was first produced by Sir Herbert Beerbohm-Tree.

A prepossessing young man, Carl Stubbs, extremely wealthy but of humble commercial origin, is very much in love with Kathleen, daughter of Sir Jeremy Cudmore. Sir Jeremy is an aristocrat of the old school with very decided views upon the nature of any occupation that savors of commercialism. He adheres rigidly to the conventions and traditions of his class and thus from most heavily upon the suit of the commercial Mr. Stubbs.

But there are other members of the aristocracy who have entered upon a commercial career with unrestrained enthusiasm—the consequence of dire financial necessity. These are the Duke of Bayswater and his sister-in-law, the Duchess of Bayswater. His Grace has entered the realm of commerce with an equine energy American in its nature. The Duke's inventions he is promoting range through steam, electricity and hydraulic pressure and his venture includes selling schemes for everything from sanitary clothing to patent boot fasteners, trousseaux, bottled drinks and even layettes.

The spectacle of the surrender of a Duke and Duchess to trade is what finally breaks down the prejudices of Sir Jeremy and paves the way to a happy culmination to the romance of Kathleen and the lowly, but wealthy, Mr. Stubbs.

Wherever it has been produced "The Duchess of Bayswater" has met with immediate success and its presentation by the versatile Co-optimists on Friday night will undoubtedly enhance the already widespread reputation of that clever company in Victoria.

The cast is as follows: Sir Jeremy Cudmore, A. Legge-Willis; Kathleen (his daughter), Miss Betty Jennings; the Duchess of Bayswater, Mrs. Legge-Willis; the Duke of Bayswater (her brother-in-law), W. Taylor; Carl

Canada's Mine Leaders Meet

Annual Convention at Winnipeg Attracts Attention of Other Countries

Winnipeg, March 7.—"Canada's wealth of mining resources brings the eyes of the world to a focus" on the annual session of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, opened at Winnipeg yesterday, said Norman R. Fisher, president-elect of the Institute.

Foremost authorities on mining were in attendance at the three-day meeting was opened by Premier John Bracken.

Canada's rapid rise to a position of prominence among the mineral producing nations of the world was stressed in an address by S. J. Cook, chief of the mining, metallurgical and chemical branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. He disclosed official figures showing the Dominion's mineral output in 1928 reached $273,440,846, a new record.

PRESTIGE INCREASES

"Canada's mineral industry, third in importance among the primary industries of the Dominion, brings to the nation prestige far beyond the monetary measure of the output," Mr. Cook declared. "First in nickel, first in asbestos, second in cobalt, third in gold, third in silver, fourth in lead and copper and sixth in zinc among the world's producers, Canada enjoys an enviable position in the mining world, with every favorable prospect for continued expansion."

STIKINE TERRITORY

Dr. F. A. Carr of Vancouver, said the Stikine River in British Columbia provided ready access to more than 100,000 square miles of unexplored mineral area. The territory available for prospecting from that river comprised a portion of one of the two main mineralized zones in British Columbia, though the speaker admitted the country had its drawback from a prospecting point of view. The existence of mineral in the area, however, had been proved, said Dr. Carr. The present white population was estimated at 100.

Big Cement Plant Planned For Mainland

Vancouver, March 7.—It was reported today that Seattle capitalists contemplate the early construction here of a cement mill to cost approximately $1,500,000, following favorable preliminary investigation by their experts.

It is reported that the capitalists behind the project are those operating Portland cement mills in the United States. Some local capital may be included, it is said.

The proposed plant would have an annual capacity of 300,000 barrels and would be furnished with supplies from property at Popkum, seventeen miles east of New Westminster, on the Canadian National Railway. The Popkum property covers approximately 400 acres, and a spur line has already been built to it.

MAN KILLED BY HIS YOUNG SON

Shot Fired By Boy of Thirteen While Father Beating Mother

North Bay, Ont., March 7.—Anthony Tucker, sixty-five, father of ten children, was shot and killed by the eldest child, Anthony Jr., thirteen, when he refused to heed the boy's warning while he was beating his wife during a quarrel.

Following an inquest yesterday at Trout Creek, where the Tucker family resides, the boy was ordered held on a manslaughter charge.

The shooting was done Tuesday night, but as Trout Creek is an isolated settlement thirty miles from here, news of the tragedy did not reach here until yesterday.

Anthony Tucker Sr. admitted in an ante-mortem statement introduced at the inquest that the quarrel with his wife had followed his late arrival for supper. He admitted he was slightly under the influence of liquor.

DEATH TOLL OF DISASTER IS 100

Landslide in Madeira Island Valley Leaves Many Injured

Lisbon, March 7.—According to dispatches from Funchal, Madeira Islands, more than 100 persons were killed and numerous others injured by a big landslide in the Valley of St. Vincent. Many of the victims were buried in their houses. The slide resulted from recent torrential rains.

Nine houses, in which 100 persons were crowded fell with the landslide into a flooded river. All were carried out to sea by the swift current.

Five bodies were recovered and volunteers were organized for further relief work. Their efforts are seriously impeded by frequent smaller landslides. The downpour of rain continued with increasing violence and most of the roadways have been destroyed.

MAN KILLED IN FIGHT IN MIAMI

Miami, Fla., March 7.—One man was killed, another injured and a crowd of fashionable men and women was thrown into confusion early this morning by a shooting affray at the Miami Biltmore Hotel at Coral Gables. A card game and other games were in progress in a suite of rooms on the fourteenth floor when a dispute broke out.

The name Tom Walsh was found in the clothing of the dead man, who was found lying face down under a card table.

The injured man identified himself as Arthur L. Clark, 567 West 149th Street, New York City. A bullet pierced his left chest and entered his left arm.

OIL EXCITEMENT IN NEW ZEALAND

Great Hopes Built on Blenheim Gusher; Present Is Test Period

Christchurch, New Zealand (By Mail) —The excitement of the oil gusher first in the Southern Hemisphere, show the flow reached 4,000 gallons an hour. Shares, worth only a few shillings before the strike, have sold at up to £6, 10s.

The discovery, after years of discouraging boring in Australia and New Zealand, at once excited the public. Payable oil would mean much to the two isolated Dominions, not only commercially, but in view of the naval forces' need of oil fuel. Australia alone imports over 200,000 gallons of oil fuel annually, and the bill will soon reach $50,000,000 a year.

The New Plymouth bore is the oldest in New Zealand and the deepest in the Southern Hemisphere. Whether its flow will be permanent is the vital question, but the fact the oil was struck at a deep level is encouraging.

By the geophysical method an underground survey was recently carried out on an adjoining area. If the flow proves, lasting the shareholders in the original company, only a £13,000 concern, will reap fortunes.

INCREASE IN WEALTH

Australia's goal, says The Daily Guardian is to become "self-contained in production of motor fuel, which would mean a great addition to the national wealth and a still greater guarantee of national security. Simultaneously with the exciting reports from Motuora, N.Z., comes the announcement that cars in Queensland are running successfully on a commercial "Shellol" which is motor spirit mixed with power alcohol derived from the waste molasses of sugar mills.

Cheaper fuel would probably mean an increase in automobile use. From Canada, gasoline cost is a considerable item in motoring here, since the motorists have to pay a retail price for first quality of two shillings a gallon.

BIG FIGHT SOON ON U.S. TARIFF

Special Session of Congress in April; Farmers Ask Great Increases

Washington, March 7. (By Francis C. Aldham, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press).—The special session of Congress at which the tariff on farm products will be revised will begin here about April 10. House leaders and the President are agreed on that point.

An increase in the import duties on nearly everything raised on the farms seems inevitable, but the farmers will not meet their increases without a fight, nor will they get as big increases as they asked for at the committee hearings last month. The unfavorable reaction in foreign countries to the farm associations' demands has brought a strong lobby of industrialists to oppose the enormous tariff increases asked for.

The business of this country did not make any representations at the committee hearings. Apparently they were saving their fire for the farm relief session.

With an eye on the purchases in this country, which totaled more than $700,000,000 last fiscal year, and the smaller but valuable exports to Argentina and Cuba, the manufacturers are getting apprehensive of the possibility of a boycott against United States goods and a retaliatory tariff in Canada within a year.

INCREASE PROMISED

President Hoover's attitude appears to be that the farmers should get some increased protection. He promised them that during his campaign.

The increases asked for by the farmers aggregate just 150 per cent of the existing tariff. On cattle it is 100 per cent. On mutton 250. If the Canadian farmers stopped buying farm implements in this country a steady market would be gone which nets the United States manufacturers $40,000,000 a year by taking up the slack of the over-production of factories.

President Hoover therefore will bring his influence to bear on the leaders in both Houses to have the farmers pare down their tariff increases and at the same time placate the business men and persuade them to withdraw their lobby against agricultural increases generally.

ILLINOIS TRAIN ROBBERS ESCAPE

Chicago, March 7.—Two young men of immediate note in the underworld, in a Minneapolis-bound Rock Island train yesterday, drew from them sub-machine guns and menaced passengers while holding up a bank messenger.

The pair drew the guns as the train approached the 91st street station, and slung Joseph Carlos, snatched his satchel containing cancelled checks bound for the First National Bank of Chicago. Then they held up Herman Scheidt, vice-president of the bank, and took $20 in cash from him.

Still brandishing the weapons, the hold-up men ordered a brakeman to make an emergency stop at 91st Street. They jumped from the train and boarded a waiting automobile.

Man Is Sentenced To Two-Year Term

Swift Current, Sask., March 7.—At a special session of the district court here yesterday, Albert Vanbus was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary on conviction before Judge Smyth of a charge of conspiring with Carl W. Smith to defraud the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Swift Current branch, by forging and uttering forged checks against the account of David Kates, for the murder of whom near Gull Lake last June J. Ravinsky is now awaiting trial.

Vanbus and Spicer were charged jointly and both were convicted, but Spicer was allowed out on suspended sentence.

After the death of Kates Ravinsky turned the Kates bank books over to the two accused, who drew about $800 from the murdered man's bank account at Swift Current and Vancouver, according to evidence given.

SIR J. D. DENISON-PENDER DIES

London, March 7.—Sir John Denison Denison-Pender, seventy-three, chairman of the Eastern and other associated cable companies, died yesterday. He was a director of the Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Company.

CHURCHILL BOOK PUBLISHED TO-DAY

Volume Deals With Period From Armistice to Treaty of Locarno

New York, March 7.—A critical analysis of the events immediately following the armistice in 1918 down to the signing of the Locarno treaty in 1925, the book published to-day by Charles Scribner's Sons, brings Mr. Churchill's history of the World War and its consequences to within a few years of the present. Starting on Armistice Day, Mr. Churchill describes the perils of demoralization and the crisis that arose when millions of men came back to their homes and hundreds of thousands of munition workers were thrown out of work.

Although willing to concede President Wilson was actuated by the noblest motives, Mr. Churchill is severely critical of the War President at times. He asserts that from the beginning the President ought to have made common cause with Lloyd George and Clemenceau instead of consuming his own strength and theirs in contests in which he was always worsted.

"He might have made everything swift and easy," Mr. Churchill writes. "He made everything slower and more difficult."

WHEAT GRADING IS DEBATED BY M.P.'S

Ottawa, March 7.—The House yesterday afternoon debated the motion of John Miller, Liberal-Progressive, Qu'Appelle, Sask., which called for wheat to be graded in accordance with its protein content, and passed an amendment offered by T. F. Donnelly, Liberal, Willow Bunch, Sask., referring the matter to the committee on agriculture.

The subject was one of great importance, Mr. Miller declared, because it affected the grading of 500,000,000 bushels of wheat. In 1919 Canada's wheat crop had been 199,000,000 bushels, but this had advanced to 533,000,000 bushels last year.

SYSTEM OF PICKING

After the harvest each year, Canadian mills immediately pick the strongest wheat from the various points, Mr. Miller claimed. This was described as "skimming." The farmer received little or no premium for these fine grades which were taken first. A little later on in the crop year the grain reached Winnipeg and other inspection points and again the very strongest grades were "skimmed."

The manner in which picking of the best carloads of grain by line elevators for mixing would affect the farmers who produced it Mr. Miller outlined as follows:

The price which the farmer got for his grain was determined at Liverpool by the buyers. Grade determined price. The buyer in Great Britain fixed his prices on the basis of the average he had been receiving. Thus, if the grade were lower, his price fell. Furthermore, it took some time for an exporter to re-establish his reputation once his grade fell below normal.

Standing room only marked the Legion meeting held Monday, March 4, at K. of P. Hall, Duncan. Members attending the meeting approved the action of the executive committee in supporting home industries by purchasing a city of Duncan bond. All Legion funds show a steady increase in credit balance.

Four new applications for membership were approved. The League of Nations Society, asked Cowichan branch to take charge locally of their 'drive for membership day.' The branch regretted it could not undertake any additional work for the time being.

It had been found necessary to grant relief to a number of cases, and the chairman of the relief committee took the opportunity to thank members and the general public for spare boxes.

A charity football match between the Kinamen Club and the Legion will be played on Sunday, March 17, at 3 o'clock. W. J. Leslie will present a challenge cup suitably inscribed. Proceeds of the match will be sent to the Soldiers' Home.

War Threat Is Seen In China

Kwangsi Faction Challenges Government; Troops Are Moved

Shanghai, China, March 7.—Chinese officials here consider a tense situation has arisen between the Nationalist Government and the so-called Kwangsi clique of military leaders, and that the shadow of war again hangs over the country, with both sides rapidly mobilizing.

President Chiang Kai-shek is massing 150,000 men in the province of Kiangsi, presumably to meet a threatened advance of Kwangsi troops from Hankow. The Kwangsi strength is estimated at 100,000.

Nanking troops, including the famous Cantonese communist "Ironclads," 5,000 strong, are now being transferred to Kwangsi from Shantung, where the revolt of troops under Chang Tsung-chang apparently is at a standstill.

Meanwhile the Shanghai-Nanking railway has suspended traffic temporarily because of troop movements, and the Nanking authorities have commandeered seven Chinese steamers as troops transports, and have prohibited Chinese craft from passing Kiukiang up the Yangtze River.

In turn the Kwangsi leaders, who have their headquarters at Wuhan (Hankow, Hanchung and Hanyang), are detaining Chinese steamers at Hankow, but neither party is interfering with foreign shipping.

Minor conflicts already have been reported on the Hunan-Kiangsi border, but the main forces are concentrating in the vicinity of Kiukiang. The Nanking garrison has been dispatched to Kiangsi, and the Nationalist capital is so denuded of troops that the cadets of the Military Academy are organizing as a defence force. Anti-aircraft detachments are preparing defences against air attacks by the twenty aeroplanes which recently were purchased by the Kwangsi faction. It is believed the Chinese navy is likely to remain neutral.

Pains in his Back Have Disappeared

British Columbia Man Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. B. Johnson is Now Never Without A Box of Dodd's Kidney Pills

Vancouver, B.C., March 7 (Special).—"I had a backache for over a year," writes Mr. B. Johnson, 2827 12 Ave., W., Vancouver. "One night I was reading your Almanac which said that Dodd's Kidney Pills relieved backache. I took one box and found out that the little book was true. Now I am never without a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house."

That Mr. Johnson's trouble came from his kidneys is evidenced by the relief he got from Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are purely and simply a kidney remedy. Many men and women suffer periodically with backache, and, as middle age approaches, the pain increases in severity.

Rest may give temporary relief, but Dodd's Kidney Pills do much more than this. They strengthen the weak kidneys and remove the cause of the pain.

A PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION

IF IT ADHERES TO ITS PROPOSAL to give the Provincial Water Board the status of a Public Utilities Commission, subject to the authority of the Government, the Provincial Administration will be doing only half a job instead of a complete one.

What is required is a Commission composed of competent businessmen who would not be exposed to any sort of political interference or influence. The Government has a pattern for its guidance in the Workmen's Compensation Board.

The development of power in British Columbia already is playing a vital part in the province's industrial expansion. The province benefits by these operations; but it must not be forgotten that the natural wealth which is being exploited belongs to the people, and their interest demands a commission which would be able to discharge its duties with absolute impartiality. In that way also would capital be assured of fair treatment.

The Provincial Water Branch is a department of the Government and as such it obviously would not be in such an effective position to assume the role of arbitrator between corporations and their customers as a body composed of persons outside the civil service.

ECONOMIC STABILITY

ONE OF THE MOST ENCOURAGING features in recent Canadian economic history is the stable level at which prices have been maintained. During the war period and the years immediately following the war it was impossible for the businessman to foresee within a range of about twenty-four cents what the purchasing power of the dollar would probably be during the twelve months immediately before him. During the last seven years, on the other hand, experience has shown that the limit of probable range has not been more than two cents. Similar comparisons of seven-year periods from 1880 to 1914 indicate a range of uncertainty within that time varying from eight cents (1880-1886) to three and one-half cents (1886-1893). Even by pre-war standards, therefore, the recent stability in the purchasing power of the Canadian dollar has been very remarkable. At no time in the last sixty years has there been so stable a period as we now enjoy.

It will be realized, of course, that at a time when the level of prices is rapidly changing, the general element of risk becomes a serious burden upon industry. When the movement is on the whole upward the difficulties are obviously less than when it is on the whole downward. But even if prices are rising there is always the possibility that the rise in the cost of materials, or the rise in labor costs, may be more rapid than the rise in the price of the finished article, thus narrowing the margin of profit, or even on occasion turning profit into loss on a long-term contract.

The years since 1924, therefore, have shown us vividly what can be achieved when this great element of risk has been confined, as at present, within such narrow limits. Without undue exaggeration, moreover, this steadiness may surely be regarded as one of the principal foundations of Canada's present great prosperity. So long as the real value of the Canadian dollar was in a state of rapid and uncertain change it was difficult to maintain even the semblance of prosperity within the country.

"MR. POOLEY'S WAY"

IF ATTORNEY-GENERAL POOLEY had really desired to draw the almost unanimous criticism of the press of this province, he could not have found a more effective way of doing it than by his astonishing action of dismissing Mrs. Helen Gregory MacGill from her position as Judge of the Juvenile Court in Vancouver. Even The Kamloops Sentinel, which prides itself on its political neutrality, has not been able to restrain itself in this instance. Under the caption, "Mr. Pooley's Way," it comments on the case in part as follows:

Mr. Pooley, attorney-general, may have been quite right to dispense with the services of Judge MacGill, but to inform her of the fact without any explanation and keep her for several days in the dark and with no other word of the situation than the public had no way to treat a lady. Mr. Pooley says he was ill, but his colleagues knew of it, so did his department. Does Mr. Pooley mean to say there isn't a deputy who can be trusted to make a simple statement on a matter like that?

No, it won't do, this was a lamentable blunder, one to be deplored.

As regards the appointment of Miss Edith Paterson, young lawyer, to succeed Mrs. MacGill, Miss Paterson's mother would have been a happier choice. But there were fifty other women in the province who were immeasurably better for this appointment, and everyone knows it.

What The Sentinel might also have said was that among the other fifty women who it considers are better qualified to fill the position which has been tendered to Miss Paterson there is not one entitled to the distinction of having been a defeated Conservative candidate in the city of Vancouver. A consideration like that makes all the difference when things are done "Mr. Pooley's Way."

NOT PRACTICABLE

WHEN WE HEAR PEOPLE TALK about an Imperial Tariff Commission that would direct the tariff matters for the whole of the British Commonwealth we wonder if they really appreciate all the implications of such a policy.

Free trade within the Empire should be good business; but governments endeavoring to reduce it to practical politics would find some trouble in launching it. We can almost hear the howls that would go up to high heaven from our own high protectionists whose imperialism wits as soon as their pockets are touched.

Canada, of course, will attend to her own tariff requirements. It is her business. She already has given practical demonstration of her desire for more trade with the other Dominions. The British Preference and the treaties with the Antipodean Dominions and the British West Indies are evidences of this. As conditions warrant, these facilities for inter-Empire trade should be extended.

It also will be necessary for this country to negotiate trading arrangements with other countries when the opportunity offers. Our industrial structure will demand increasing markets as our productive capacity expands. It would be just as difficult to operate the Empire on a single economic basis as it would be to do it on a single political basis.

SO FAR, SO GOOD

THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT the Department of Public Works intends to improve the approach to the road between Jordan River and Sooke so that it will be suitable for trunk highway traffic, and that there may be further extension of the highway commenced last Summer, is satisfactory as far as it goes.

The Ocean Highway, as the members of the Government now realize, is an undertaking about which there need be no hesitation. Money spent on it will yield ample dividends from the day it is opened for traffic. Incidentally, the revenue Vancouver Island motorists turn into the provincial treasury every year is enough to finance this and many other highway projects on this Island.

WELL RECEIVED

THE COMMENTS OF TWO LONDON newspapers on President Hoover's inaugural address may be taken as a fairly accurate reflection of the opinion of the great mass of the people in Britain.

The Times says: "When nations and governments approach each other in the cordial, generous tones of Mr. Hoover's commentary, the negotiators will find themselves half-way through their business at the beginning."

The Daily News says the new President's unavoidable repudiation of the League of Nations could hardly have been more temperate, and it suggests the situation is such as to prove the adage, that "he who is not against us is with us."

The Morning Post, running true to form, finds little in Mr. Hoover's reference to peace and disarmament to satisfy the world's hopes and conjectures with respect to these subjects.

In spite of the scoffers, however, the new President has given a lead to the world which it has an opportunity of accepting. Upon the other great powers now would seem to rest the obligation of demonstrating the sincerity of their desire to make a new contribution to the cause of peace.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A fool and his money keep lots of people from being honest.

The bill collector may not be a busy-body, but he generally finds people out.

For every man who is making history, there are a thousand book agents to sell it.

More people will believe in food for reflection when the number of vitamins it contains has been advertised in the magazines.

You can tell when a man is satisfied with his lot by the roses growing in the yard.

Easy Street seems to be about the hardest one to locate.

President Coolidge says he will write some books. So that's why he has been saving his words!

Those who went south early enough for the Sharkey-Stribling affair at least got their money's worth of entertainment out of the story of Jack Dempsey being shot at.

Wm. D. Mitchell, President Hoover's Attorney-General, is a Democrat. At one time the President himself was neither a Republican nor a Democrat. The machine politicians are likely to find the new incumbent of the White House very intractable.

ARTIST'S LICENSE

The Toronto Star

There are millions of people in Canada who never in their lives have seen a dog train. The notion that they are typical of the country, and serve our purposes as the railway train serves the United States, is, shall we say, wide of the mark. In fact, the only dog train we have heard of this Winter in Eastern Canada was one that visited Montreal from Maine. But artists, like poets, always picture Uncle Sam with a swallowtail coat and a grey pig hat, so, always, perhaps, they will picture Jack Canuck traveling by dog train over a wilderness of snowbanks. But, believe us or not, Canada isn't really like that.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Vladivostok, March 6.—A fleet of five Japanese battleships and two cruisers appeared off here at 1.35 o'clock this afternoon and, bombarded the shore batteries for fifty-five minutes.

On Wednesday morning the work of depositing gravel on the flats along Government Street in order to complete the Causeway will commence.

A seven-ton shipment of ore from Anderson's Lake, a consignment of twelve hogs from Alberni, twenty boxes of fish from Ucluelet and four horses from Quatsino made up the cargo of the steamer Queen City on her return this morning from a special trip as far as Quatsino Sound.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

A WONDERFUL WALLOP

The Baltimore Sun

When a Michigan pastor told his congregation that golf is second to Christianity in development of the highest standards of manhood, he got off one of the best drives ever made from the pulpit, straight down the fairway for at least 250 yards.

THE WRONG ATTITUDE

The Border Cities Star

A Windsor reader sends The Star the following note:

Walkerville is always taking a poke at Windsor. Won't you please use this and take a poke back at Walkerville?

Enclosed is a clipping from another publication, making fun of the street car service in Windsor's neighboring municipality.

The Star has no desire to "take a poke" at Walkerville or any other municipality. If Walkerville's street car service is not what it should be, then The Star is interested in securing an improvement, just the same as it is interested in securing a betterment of the service in Windsor, Sandwich, Port, Riverside or any other part of the Border Cities.

The desire of any municipality to "take a poke" at another is not going to accomplish anything for the Border Cities. There is less of a "take a poke" spirit here now than ever before. Instead we find a growing demand for the keenest kind of co-operation between the municipalities. Business leaders and others appreciate that the way for the Border Cities to get ahead on the best basis lies in co-operative effort, not in trivial quarrels and "poke taking."

CABLE VOLUME VS. HIGH CABLE RATES

The Vancouver Sun

Retention of cable rates at eighty and ninety cents a word between the Pacific Coast and the Orient is as absurd and contrary to modern business practice as the retention of high prices and low sales volumes in commerce.

At the present rates, the cable only works a fraction of the time. The idle time is dead loss. But with rates of five or ten cents a word, that cable would work every hour of the day and night. And a volume of business would be created that would not only stimulate trade on the Pacific to a new pitch, but would result in new profits in cable operation.

If the cable cannot compete with wireless, the time has come to junk the cable and for Japan, China, United States and Canada to build great beam wireless stations that will properly handle business communications at reasonable rates.

Meanwhile, if there is an actual cost loss to cable companies in reduced rates and it becomes necessary to compensate them (as they should be compensated for cost loss) establish that compensation, pay it and have done with it. But the Pacific countries cannot afford to hold up world progress with rates that stifle trade across this hemisphere.

If cable rates are to be lowered or beam wireless stations erected, Canada must understand that the Pacific countries must do it themselves. Canada certainly cannot expect anything but opposition from England, because English trade in Shanghai, Hongkong, Singapore, etc., will not welcome such a close association with the Pacific Coast as a five-cent rate would afford.

Good business in the Orient is waiting for Pacific Coast cities. It is up to Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Vancouver and Victoria, to go out with cheap cable rates to get it.

The session begins to show its age—Late nights take the steam out of everyone but Mr. Pattullo—so the day is deadily dull as the House thinks of home, sweet home.

The first session of the Seventeenth Parliament of British Columbia is nearly seven weeks old now. On Wednesday the House looked every day of its advanced age. A fact which is recorded here because there was little else in the day's proceedings worth recording. The session is almost seven weeks old and the House appears as fresh as an egg of equal maturity. It is tired, it has that inevitable seven-week-away-from-home look, from Mr. Speaker Jones down to the last clerk in the back row.

Unless something develops after this is written, sometime before midnight, the day may be set down as a dead loss so far as excitement is concerned. Mr. Manson and Mr. Pattullo tried to infuse a little life into the assembly early in the afternoon, but failed utterly, and everybody slipped into a gloomy apathy, except for the Ministers who had to get legislation passed. After Mr. Pattullo appeared on the scene, the session was evidently coming to a conclusion that the latter is the only way to handle him.

As an Opposition Leader, as an indefatigable critic, in fact, you have to hold up the Government to the rest of the House, it is tired out, after Mr. Bill McKenzie has ceased to wave his hands, after Mr. Hinchliffe has exhausted the last drop of his logic, after Mr. Pattullo has hidden himself behind a newspaper, Mr. Pattullo is still going strong.

The older the session gets, the stronger he seems to go. Tuesday night, he held up the Government to teach it a lesson and the Government replied by holding up Mr. Pattullo until half-past twelve in the morning to teach him a lesson. Both lessons were a failure. Mr. Pattullo appeared on Wednesday fresher, pinker-checked and more critical than ever.

Mr. Pattullo, in fact, was the only one who could get any kick at all out of the session. He gave the late session Tuesday night. He started the day with a well-executed rant, which captured five Conservatives, the biggest bag he has secured yet. This rant was executed, without casualties to himself, in connection with the Northwest Telephone Company's Bill, not a Government measure, to be sure, but the Government was out solely against Mr. Pattullo's proposed amendments to it.

Five Conservatives, however, after listening to Mr. Pattullo, lined up with the eleven Liberals to amend the bill. That was not sufficient, of course, to amend it; but Mr. Pattullo's face beamed with the air of a conqueror as the division was taken, and he found five of the enemy safely within his ranks. That may be the last time these five will be seen there, but at least Mr. Pattullo had his moment.

Mr. Manson followed with the alarming suggestion that Mr. Hinchliffe was planning to corrupt the innocent minds of school children with Conservative dogma. This would be accomplished, he hinted, by political appointments like that of a Conservative organizer who was being introduced in the guise of a special woman investigator to consider the living conditions of girl teachers. Mr. Manson's address was notable mostly for Mr. Manson's views on the Modern Woman. He gave the House an erudite lecture on this attractive theme, and offered it the conclusion of long observation when he said the girl teacher of to-day can look after herself without any female investigators to help her. Also he said Mr. Hinchliffe had broken the law in appointing the said investigator.

This roused Mr. Hinchliffe to a mighty roar of indignation and, though a lawyer himself, he informed a trembling assembly that he didn't care if he had broken the law because he had done what was right. Whereupon the men who make the law thundered their approval.

The evening session started with business appropriate to the spirit of the House, namely, an amendment to the Coronation Bill. It was just after this that Mr. Pattullo proposed to hold an immediate inquest over the Government's Liquor Act amendments, almost before they had been born. He didn't succeed, of course, but he started a promising future, which probably was the beginning of a much more promising one later on.

As soon as Mr. Pooley commenced to bring in the Liquor Act amendments, Mr. Pattullo sprang to his feet with a demand for an immediate explanation, declaring that he didn't know anything about this bill. To which Mr. Pooley replied that Mr. Pattullo wasn't supposed to know anything about it. Mr. Pat-tullo realized this to be all too true, but he insisted on an explanation with some heat, while Mr. Manson pleaded for light and leading with a heavy heart. In the end, Mr. Pooley explained that he was merely abolishing the system under which liquor profits are ear-marked for mothers' pensions and hospitals, so that persons receiving them may not feel they are under the shadow of the drink trade. Mr. Pattullo let it go at that, but a stony glitter in his eye suggested to those who know that the Liquor Act amendments are not through yet.

After that, the House sank peacefully into the soft embraces of the Companies Act, which only three members understand, and which permits everyone else to go outside and imbibe refreshment from the ice-water filter. The only passing excitement at this stage occurred when Mr. Manson began to pound his desk viciously, and Mr. Buchanan joined with him until he grew red in the face. It turned out, however, that the Opposition was trying to make a scene after all. The top of Mr. Manson's desk had got stuck and he was trying to open it with a sight of relief, the House settled down again with the Companies Act.

No serious ripple thus disturbs the surface of the legislative waters, but underneath, unpalatable things are said to be brewing. What they are, we shall find out when a special committee starts to investigate and Government's liquor administration. No one seems to know yet what this investigation is all about, but it is believed that before the seventh week has elapsed into the eighth, we shall be back once more with the dear old campaign funds, beer-by-the-glass, stool pigeons and the other things that used to make life so interesting.

We can never forget such matters very long for it is only two years ago that General Odium and his Campaign Fund Committee investigated liquor for weeks on end, and ended by finding that there was nothing worth investigating.

No Offer On Colonization

B.C. Will Gather Data Before Making Proposals to Britain
Premier Defends Appointment of Commissioner

Premier Tolmie informed the Legislature yesterday that no definite offer regarding colonization had been made to the British Government in the course of the negotiations with Lord Lovat and subsequently. It was desired to gather complete information about suitable areas for settlement and then to ascertain what activities could be best conducted on them so that a concrete proposal could be made.

T. D. Pattullo, Opposition leader, said that the mere appointment of a colonization commissioner, who was simply another selling agent, was no solution of the problem. It was simply another case of making a job for a political henchman. The Premier denied that Dr. Giddies was a politician, but said he was an expert on colonization and had done good work in preparation of a programme for selling of Sumas, South Okanagan, Creston and other settlement areas.

Mr. Pattullo suggested that all the investigations made by the Government were simply a cloak to conceal a lack of policy as full information was already on file in the departments.

EXPLOSION CAUSES DEATH

Breckenridge, Texas, March 7.—Dr. J. W. Pugh, thirty-five, superintendent of the Humble Experimental Plant, ten miles from here, was killed in an explosion at the plant yesterday. G. A. Anderson, assistant superintendent, and Jack Lucas, welder, were severely burned.

Be Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby is likely to wake you any night with that sharp cry which means just one thing—colic! Be ready. Keep a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria in the house. A few drops of this pure vegetable, pleasant-tasting preparation comforts a colicky, fretful or feverish baby in a few moments. Your anxiety is over and baby's sleeping soundly again. And you've only done what your doctor would advise. He'll tell you Fletcher's Castoria doesn't contain any harmful drugs—that it's safe for the youngest infant and effective for children of all ages in cases of constipation, colic, gas, diarrhoea and those upsets when you don't know just what is the matter. Avoid imitations. Genuine Castoria bears the Fletcher signature.

As soon as Mr. Pooley commenced to bring in the Liquor Act amendments, Mr. Pattullo sprang to his feet with a demand for an immediate explanation, declaring that he didn't know anything about this bill. To which Mr. Pooley replied that Mr. Pattullo wasn't supposed to know anything about it. Mr. Pat-

Women Express Appreciation of Mrs. H. MacGill

Canadian Daughters' League Send Message to Dismissed Judge

The Canadian Daughters' League at their meeting last evening in the Sons of Canada Hall went on record "in appreciation of the excellent services of Mrs. Helen Gregory MacGill while judge of the Juvenile Court of Vancouver." A letter was ordered sent to Mrs. MacGill advising her of the league's action.

During the evening questionnaires on interesting Canadian topics were discussed. The subject for discussion at the next meeting will be "Methods of Developing a National Spirit."

Sir O. Lodge Has Spirit Messages From Late Wife

London, March 7.—Sir Oliver Lodge, celebrated scientist and spiritualist, has received spirit messages from his late wife, who died February 20, that he has already received.

In the course of this tribute which was written for friends, Sir Oliver said that "she met and was welcomed by her beloved son and daughter and was allowed to send us a characteristic and evidential message before being taken by them to rest and recuperation."

EARL OF EGMONT VISITS TORONTO

Toronto, March 7.—The tenth Earl of Egmont, Frederick Joseph Trevelyan Percival, former Alberta rancher, arrived from the West yesterday en route to England to get his estate at Ringwood, Hampshire, "into good shape."

He said he intends to spend the rest of his life seeing the world, fishing and hunting. He is not anxious to take his seat in the House of Lords, but wants to retain his title for the sake of his son, Herbert, who will continue his education in England.

"Mr. Percival," as he said he preferred to be called, will sail from St. John aboard the C.P.R. liner Montclair. He expects to come back to Canada once in a while for a holiday.

"Cut out the title," the Earl said to reporters. "I would sooner hear you say 'Mr. Percival.' I've been used to that name for a long time, and I'm not used to the other one yet."

Silver Tea.—The ladies of the First Spiritual Church will hold a silver tea at Harmony Hall, 724 Fort Street on Friday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Yousen will be in attendance.

Y.W.C.A. Board.—The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Y.W.C.A. will be held in the association rooms on Friday afternoon, March 8, at 2:30 o'clock.

OLIVE SHEA

Wins Praise

The quality of her acting as the Private Secretary in "The News Parade" is winning the praise of movie fans everywhere for this lovely newcomer to the screen. At home in New York City, hundreds admire her charming personality and she had fairly "set the style" on Broadway by the way she dresses her hair.

"The simple method I use in caring for my hair," says Miss Shea, "has been of great help to me in my motion picture work, where one's hair must always look its best. It's just the thing for busy girls, too, because it is so easy. Most of the girls I know in stage and picture work are taking it up as soon as they hear about it. All you do is put a little Danderine on your brush every time you use it. It makes your hair easy to dress and holds it in place wonderfully. It's ideal for girls who are letting their hair grow. It keeps my hair and scalp so clean and comfortable. I don't shampoo half so often, now. It gives my hair such a silky, soft, lustrous appearance that all my friends comment on it."

Danderine removes the oily film from each strand of hair, restores its natural color, gives it more lustre than brilliant. It cleanses and invigorates the scalp; helps overcome dandruff. It is delightfully fragrant; isn't sticky or oily; doesn't show. Waves "set" with it, last longer. All drug stores have it, in generous 35c bottles. (Adv.)

Handicrafts to Be Featured At Big Conference

Arts and Crafts Society to Send Exhibit to Education Council's Show

A handicrafts exhibit, showing specimens of work from all parts of the world, will be one of the interesting features of the National Council of Education conference in its Vancouver programme from April 8 to 13.

The Island Arts and Crafts Society has been invited to send handicrafts to this exhibition, the invitation coming to them from Mrs. Holt Munson, provincial secretary of the Canadian Handicrafts Guild, which is handling this section for the National Council.

At its meeting last night the Arts and Crafts Society decided to accept the request and will bear the freight cost of sending the local contribution to Vancouver.

Miss Catherine Lothian, Mrs. Margaret Grate and Mr. J. S. McMillan were appointed to handle the local exhibit, and local craftworkers desirous of entering specimens of their work are requested to notify Mr. McMillan, telephone No. 1470.

Woman Captain Is Identified

Masquerader Proves to Be Mrs. Valerie Smith, Soldier's Wife

London, March 7.—A woman, who for years has posed as man, going under the name of "Captain Leslie Barker," is under arrest for failing to attend bankruptcy proceedings.

The masquerader, six feet in height, with a military bearing and forty-five years of age, appears to have been reliably identified as Mrs. Valerie Smith, wife of an Australian soldier whom she married during the Great War, in which she served as an auxiliary nurse.

She is the mother of a boy, aged nine, and a girl, eight. To-day she was transferred from Brixton men's prison to Holloway jail, which is reserved for women.

Her sex was disclosed when, at her request, she was interviewed by the medical officer at Brixton.

The arrest of "Captain Barker" was made at the Regent Palace Hotel near Piccadilly, where the accused had for some time been serving as a reception clerk in a restaurant.

CRICKETER AND CHORISTER.—The evening news has gathered stories from London, of the charming Wiltshire town, of how she lived a crowded six months there before coming to London. She sang in the choir of the old church, played cricket with the town club and hunted with the Ridgworth Hunts. This happened four years ago. In one of Anderson's quartets, "Captain Barker" is still remembered as a customer arrayed either in flannels or plus fours, consuming whisky and soda and exchanging a genial chat.

Mr. Cockings, choirmaster of Andover Church, tells of how the captain's tenor voice would persist in breaking into a treble in November, 1923, after a courtship of two years. The wedding was witnessed by the parents of the bride, who said their daughter at first was very happy, but later became miserable and left "him" two years ago.

The wife is now living with her parents, who said she was unaware of the masquerade until she read the newspaper stories.

Oaklands P.T.A. Social.—A very enjoyable time was spent on Monday evening in the auditorium of the Oaklands school by about sixty members and friends of the Oaklands Parent-Teacher Association. The secretary gave notice of a tea and sale of home cooking and candy to be held on Friday, March 15. At the conclusion of the business, two competitions were held, the winners being: First, Mrs. McCagley; second, Mrs. Irene Cawthorne, and in the second competition, first, Mrs. Ferris; second, Mrs. Hogan. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing, music being supplied by Mr. T. Wilkinson. Refreshments were served by the committee.

Lloyd George Is To Address Great Meeting in London

London, March 7 (Canadian Press Cable).—A Liberal mass demonstration has been arranged for Albert Hall, London, on March 16, to enable Ex-premier David Lloyd George to repeat the speech he made last Friday.

Speaking in London last Friday, the Liberal leader fired the first barrage of his party in the general election campaign in Great Britain. He outlined an extensive programme of national development and pledged the party, if returned to power, to wipe out unemployment within a year without adding a penny to the taxation.

RESIGNATION NOT ACCEPTED

Winnipeg, March 7.—The Independent Labor Party, in session here last night, refused to accept the resignation of John Queen, Labor member for Winnipeg in the Manitoba Legislature, from the various offices he holds in the organization.

You'll never get a whiter wash than a Rinso wash Clothes are cleansed with old-fashioned thoroughness in a new-fashioned way

Now you can be proud of the whiteness of your clothes without feeling miserable with aches in your arms and back.

So very many women since they began using Rinso now have time to spare on washday . . . don't feel all tired out . . . and nobody could have whiter clothes than they do.

The thicker, richer suds of Rinso are the modern magic that has made this happy change

So surely—so thoroughly—so gently do these rich Rinso suds cleanse, that you can actually soak your clothes clean.
No boiler, no washboard needed. A light little rub at the grimeiest parts perhaps . . . but no hard rubbing . . . no bat soaps . . . no chips or powders. Yet clothes like snow for whiteness.

Doesn't that sound good to wash-wash women? And isn't a soap which will soak clothes clean the best choice for washing machines too? Thirty-two makers of washing machines recommend the use of Rinso.

Start next washday to enjoy for yourself the big benefits of

INVESTIGATOR IS POLITICIAN, MANSON SAYS

Miss Bowron to Be Conservative Organizer Under Official Guise?

Vigorous Action Needed to Protect Girl Teachers, Says Hinchliffe

Problems of girl-school teachers in rural districts were discussed at length by the Legislature Wednesday when the Opposition delivered a final attack on the appointment of Miss Lottie Bowron as a special investigator, to inquire into teachers' living conditions.

The debate drew from Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, the declaration that one girl teacher had committed suicide, that another had been outraged in her school recently and that instant action was necessary to prevent further outrages of the kind.

A. M. Manson, Liberal of Omicameca, attacked Miss Bowron's appointment as "purely political," and absolutely unnecessary. There was ample machinery in the Education Department now to investigate teachers' living conditions and make certain that they were satisfactory, he said.

WAS ILLEGAL.
The appointment of Miss Bowron
under the Public Inquiries Act, he said, was illegal, and to correct it, Mr. Hinch-liffe now proposed to provide for it under amendments to the School Act, then being discussed.

"This is not an endeavor to improve the situation but to put into the Education Department a Conservative organizer who will organize the Party from one end of the Province to the other," Mr. Manson charged. "If such organization is necessary, it should not be paid for out of Government revenues. The Conservative Party has plenty of campaign funds. Let them pay for this out of their own pockets."

"Did you find you had plenty of money when you were in office?" asked Hon. W. A. McKenzie.

"When we had organization work to do, we paid for it out of our pockets,"
Mr. Manson retorted.

NOT AN ORGANIZER.
Mr. Hinchliffe said Miss Bowron had never been a political organizer. He regretted that Mr. Manson had forced him to make a statement which he did not wish to make.

"Was I not warranted in taking action when I found on taking office that one teacher had committed suicide and one girl had been outraged in her own school within the last three months? Surely I am justified under such conditions to try to find out what conditions our young girl teachers are working under," he said.

"Has a prosecution been launched in the second case?" Mr. Manson asked.
"Yes, of course, but what good does that do the girl?" Mr. Hinchliffe asked.
"I don't want to wait until outrages are committed or suicides occur. I want to try to prevent such things.
It was necessary to act and act at once."

Mr. Manson insisted that it was illegal to start the investigation under the Public Inquiries Act, but Mr. Pooley said that this was quite in order, and Mr. Hinchliffe declared he did not care if he had broken the law or not in order to secure immediate action.

The Minister defended Miss Bowron as well fitted for her work as a British Columbia woman, who knew the Province and had a wide experience.
This view was endorsed by Colonel C. W. Peck, V.C., Conservative of the Islands, and by Dr. L. E. Borden, Conservative of Nelson, but Dr. H. C.
Winch, Liberal of Skeena, felt that one inspector was quite inadequate.
If Miss Bowron's work were necessary, he said, a large number of such investigators should be appointed.

The School Act amendment empowering Mr. Hinchliffe to make Miss Bowron's appointment permanent was passed.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

LET THE BABIES USE THEIR TEETH

Mrs. K. writes:
Thank you for your advice. I have omitted the 10 p.m. feeding for baby and now would like to get him on the three meals a day, but do not know when to give his bath, orange juice and cod liver oil, or the daytime nap.
Does milk heated to blood heat contain bacteria? Your menu from twelve to fifteen months offers orange juice at breakfast, and also milk. Should these two be given together? How can one give a slice of bacon? Shall toast be crumbled in the soup? How can I prevent my baby's starting the habit of throwing things?

ANSWER
Here is a tentative outline for the above activities. Breakfast at seven (as outlined in leaflet); cod liver oil one-half to one hour after breakfast bath at eleven; lunch at twelve and then nap; lunch in mid-afternoon if baby can't go from 12 to 6, otherwise meal outlined in your leaflet for 6 o'clock and then bed for the night.
All milk contains bacteria. Unless milk is allowed to stand after it has been heated, the bacteria in it do not increase. If it is allowed to stay warm, they increase rapidly. Of course orange juice can be given with milk. There are some formulas of milk which contain orange juice or lemon juice as an aid to digesting the milk. Forget the "funny" food fads and inhibitions.

Bacon should be broiled until crisp enough to powder and fed that way.
Nothing could be better for baby than to be given a nice piece of hard toast (brown and crisp) and let him chew it himself. Babies who have teeth should have food to chew on and not just soft "pap."

Your next question is rather crossing the bridge before you get to it, isn't it?
Children do learn to throw objects because they are given balls and encouraged to throw them. Perhaps if mothers and fathers left such activities to be enjoyed out-of-doors they wouldn't have to punish their small sons and daughters when they threw breakable objects and household goods around the room. When a child does this, the object should be taken away from him. As throwing is a splendid exercise for him, we should not forbid it, but it can be restricted to balls and the sport enjoyed out of doors.

House Hears Warnock Case

Two Men Could Not Agree
and One Had to Separate,
Says Atkinson

The former Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Dr. David Warnock, was discharged because he went to the Toronto fair after being told that the work to be done there could be left in the hands of officials from British Columbia, who would be there, Hon. W.
Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture told the Legislature last night.

Further information was sought on the former deputy's dismissal by Ian
A. Macpherson and the minister replied that it was a matter of two men who could not get along together and one had to separate. He asked Dr. Warnock to go to the prairies with a delegation and the lesson for the day later he was in Toronto. He was then absent twenty-eight days, during which time the minister never heard from him and as a new minister he at that time needed the help of his deputy.

HAD NO REPORT
F. M. Macpherson called attention to the fact that on his trip Dr. Warnock called at prairie towns and spoke there and Mr. Atkinson replied that he had no reports to that effect.

A. M. Manson, K.C., elicited the information that Dr. Warnock was dismissed immediately upon his return and had no opportunity to prepare a report. Mr. Manson asked Mr. Atkinson if he knew the late deputy was a returned soldier and held the Order of the British Empire. Mr. Atkinson replied that he did not.

T. D. Pattullo said while he would accept the word of the minister, Dr.
Warnock might not view the situation in the same light as the minister did.
He pointed out that Dr. Warnock was a man of high qualifications and highly respected throughout the Province.

were left in the hands of the directors.

The class in physical culture was postponed until later in the year. The resolution re full time health units was endorsed by the meeting. Prizes similar to those given last year will be offered again this year in Lake Hill

Protests Bring Cut In Planned School Impost

Liberals Express Thanks
Criticism Bore Fruit

Proposed New Three Mill
Levy Cut to One Mill

Liberal members in the Legislature yesterday expressed thanks for the criticism had borne fruit when the amendment cutting Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe's original three-mill tax proposal for assisted schools to one mill was approved with the bill on its committee stage. The amendment to the bill was made in the name of
C. F. Davis.

Although the reduction brought expressions of thanks, the plan to levy
the tax at all drew criticism from Hon.
T. D. Pattullo, Leader of the Opposition, and G. S. Pearson, Liberal, Nanaimo, was argued that it was unjust that a twenty-eight year privilege, which schools in the E. and N. Belt had enjoyed, should be taken away without notice at all.

After C. F. Davis, Conservative,
Cowichan-Newcastle, and Dr. G. K.
MacNaughton, Comox, had spoken and Dr. MacNaughton had remarked that had the rate stood as originally planned at three mills, he would have been forced to oppose it, Mr. Pattullo remarked that it was obvious why the Minister of Education had to back down on his original plan.

Mr. Pearson corrected an impression that seemed to exist in the minds of some members of the House that these schools paid no taxes for education.
The privilege being taken away, he said, was what called for the cutting of the proposed three-mill tax to one mill, was given credit for reducing taxation.

He called attention to a report in an Up-Island newspaper, where C. F.
Davis for his efforts to secure the cutting of the proposed three-mill tax to one mill, was given credit for reducing taxation.

L. A. Hanna, Liberal, Alberni, supported the amendment on the grounds that half a loaf was better than no bread.

Mr. Pattullo questioned whether the estimates had included the tax on the three-mill basis, and informed that they did say the estimates only provided a $70,000 surplus. This was another instance where they would be short; in this case $60,000. "Shall we have a deficit in the estimates?" he asked. Mr. Hinchliffe said it would be met by another supplementary vote.

C. F. Davis said that while he did not agree with the withdrawal of the right accorded in the E. and N. Belt for twenty-eight years, and had with others made representations to the Minister of Education, the Minister had shown that he had difficulty in carrying on and realizing that he was not unmindful of the representations, and was preparing to revise the whole system of school taxation, they were prepared to compromise. In view of the fact that the Minister had intimated the reorganization which it was proposed to present next session would make school taxation more equitable

Transference Scheme Aids British Miners

London, March 7.—Direct Govern-industry would not be advantageous, Premier Baldwin told the deputation from the British Miners' Federation which interviewed him Tuesday, acamalgamations and other forms of re-

The most urgent matter requiring attention, he said, was the transference of the surplus miners to other industries. He appealed for the co-operation of the Miners' Federation with the

Toronto May Cinch Place In Play-offs By Win Over Hawks

Victory To-night Would Eliminate Montreal Maroons From Race in N.H.L.; Ottawa, Who Play Canadiens, Still Have Mathematical Chance of Taking Third Place From Leafs; Canadiens Are Assured of at Least a Tie for Top Position.

Toronto, March 7.—After the struggles of the last few weeks the National Hockey League teams have given themselves a night off with only two games on the schedule. The leaders of the American group will be idle, while only the Montreal Canadiens among the first place contenders in the International Section will play.

Playing on their home ice, they meet the Ottawa Senators, tail-enders of the division, whom they already have beaten in four out of five games this season. The fifth contest was a tie. With a six-point lead, the Canadiens could lose all but one of the remaining games and still finish in a tie with the Americans if the New Yorkers won their four remaining games.

OTTAWA HAS CHANCE

Ottawa still has a mathematical chance of taking third place in the international group standing away from Toronto Maple Leafs. The Senators have three games to go to-night's contest with the Canadiens. If Toronto loses four of their remaining five games and Ottawa gets four straight victories, the Senators can come out ahead.

The Leafs get one of their best chances to-night, however, when they meet the Black Hawks. By winning, Toronto can put Montreal Maroons out of the race for the last place in the play-offs, and if Toronto loses can clinch the position.

Toronto, March 7.—Senior and Junior Ontario Hockey Association teams are a step nearer their finals to-day.

Tuesday night the University of Toronto, in the senior series, beat Queen's University, 4-2, in the first of a two-game series for the senior championship, which Young Rangers of Toronto won, 3-2, over Oshawa, taking the round, 5-4, to decide which should enter the Toronto district junior play-offs.

The winners of the series between Rangers and Marlboros of Toronto will meet the western Ontario champions. The second-Varsity Cup's game will be played here Friday night.

Tuesday night Soo Greyhounds battled to a 1-1 draw with Kirkland Lake and, having won the first game, 4-2, took the round and the N.O.H.A. junior association championship.

Monday, March 11, and Wednesday, March 13, the senior and intermediate winners will play off.

Regina, March 7.—Regina Victorias, champions of the Big Six Hockey League, are seven goals ahead of Saskatoon Wesleys in the race for the Saskatchewan title. Their advantage to be tested Friday night, was established by a 9-2 win last night in the opening contest of a two-game series decided by total goals, for the provincial honors.

Garagemen To Decide Title

Plimleys to Meet Humphries in Deciding Game For Home Oil Cup

With a two-goal lead to help them Plimley's Whippets will take the ice in the final of the Garage Hockey League play-off against the H. E. Humphries' Dodgers at the Arena tomorrow night, full of confidence. Since the outcome of the play-offs will be determined by the total number of goals scored in the two-game series, the Whippets have a decided advantage over their opponents.

In the opening game of the series last week, the teams battled through six minutes of torrid hockey before the eventual winners were sure of the decision. The game to-morrow promises to provide equally as many thrills for the spectators and should be even more closely contested than the first.

WILL PRESENT CUP

Should the Dodgers tie the score during the game, the teams will play overtime until one gains the decision. Lou Tweedie, donor of the Home Oil Cup, will present the trophy to the winning team at the conclusion of the match. Frings, Bridgewood and Butters will be Humphries' first strike attack during the game, while Hall, Thompson and Wood will again line up on the forward line for Plimley's side.

Crabb will take charge of the Whippets' net, and Meyers and Scott will play on the defence. Phillips will be in goal for the Dodgers. Both teams have three substitutes men who will keep the squads going at top speed.

From the time Mayor Herbert Anscomb drops the puck between the rival centres, at 7.45 p.m., the game promises to be as fast as any seen in the league during the season.

Dode Bercot Wins Peculiar Victory

Bellingham, March 7.—Dode Bercot, Seattle welterweight, was given a technical knockout over Ray Clark, Bellingham, in the fourth round of last night's six-round main event at the Bellingham Casino. Bercot, an American Legion Hall, Bercot, accidentally bumped Clark's eye with his head and the referee halted the bout. Clark was temporarily blinded and unable to continue.

Webster Is Big Factor In Caps' Win

"Doc" Stars When Local Hoop Team Defeats Duncan and Wins Island Title

Fast Game Last Night Ends 43-25; Series Ends 79-49 in Favor of Caps

Victoria Capitals won the right to represent Vancouver Island in the B.C. play-offs for the men's senior "A" championship, by taking a series of two games from Duncan by a 79-49 score. The Caps clearly showed their superiority over the T-p Islanders by defeating them 43-25 on their home floor last night.

Duncan opened fast gaining a fairly large lead and at one time holding a 16-8 advantage. "Doc" Webster found his shooting eye and ran in four baskets in quick succession. Duncan then took the lead again on baskets by Dirome and McNichol. The half-time score read 20-18 in favor of Duncan.

AWAY IN RUSH

Right after the commencement of the second half the Capitals started in earnest, and ran in baskets in rapid fashion, quickly gaining a large lead. The winners played the best ball they have exhibited this year, passing and back-checking in wonderful fashion. In this half Victoria's entry outscored the Duncanites 25-9.

WEBSTER PLAYS WELL

The return to form of "Doc" Webster to that which he exhibited in his old high school days was a great help to the winners. All the other players on the team turned in sterling ball. At the conclusion of the game J. S. "Scotty" Dwyer presented the cup, representative of the Island championship, to Norman Forbes, captain of the winners, at the same time wishing him the best of luck for his team in the British Columbia play-offs. Tommy de Macedo and Bob Whyte refereed. The teams were as follows:

Capitals—Webster 16, Wachter, Forbes 4, Boyd 6, Skillings 3, McKenzie 12 and Pat 2.
Duncan—McNichol 6, Peele 6, Harris, Dirome 9, French 2 and Evans 2.

The Maple Leaf Football Club will hold a special meeting to-night at the manager's home, 1812 Cook Street, at 7 o'clock. All players are requested to attend.

Preston North End Places All Players On Transfer List

London, March 7.—Preston North End, one of the most famous soccer clubs in the world, has fallen on evil days. Announcement was made by its officers yesterday that all the club's players have been placed on the transfer list. Preston North End follows an example set recently by Derby County and Hull City. Preston North End owns twenty-nine players valued at $300,000. The club's financial difficulties go back some years.

Westminster Hoop Team Wins Game

New Westminster, March 7.—Adams of this city, advanced to the third round of the senior "A" men's basketball play-off of the Vancouver and District League, last night. The Royal City team earned its way to the next round by defeating St. Andrew's Crusaders of Vancouver, 20-18, at the Queen's Park Arena.

Ray Miller Will Fight McLarnin

New York, March 7.—Ray Miller, hard-hitting Chicago lightweight, yesterday was signed for a match with Jimmy McLarnin, Pacific Coast star, in Madison Square Garden, March 23. McLarnin, who was knocked out recently in Detroit by Miller, has already agreed to terms for the match, billed for ten rounds.

Sporting Sugar Daddies—By Jimmy Thompson

There is little doubt that amateur sporting organizations would have a hard time making both ends meet if it were not for the "sugar daddies" who give them financial assistance in times of need. Such is the case in Regina, so far as basketball is concerned. But for the good-natured help of Albert and Nick Lallas, things might not run so sweetly for the celebrated Balmoral team of that city. The two Pappas are certainly popular with the players, and are good sportsmen and executives to boot.

With the Balmorals there are two excellent guardsmen, Ren Blair and Ted Wetmore. Ren is not only a good basketball player, but shines as an organist with the Regina Boat Club. Ted, who comes from Brandon, formerly took an active part in hockey with the Columbus Club of Brandon, and also played lacrosse and baseball. He is also rated as one of Brandon's leading tennis players.

Blackburn Beaten In Cup Round

Present Holders of English Football Cup Are Defeated By Bolton

Huddersfield Eliminate West Bromwich; Bolton Will Now Meet Portsmouth

London, March 7.—With the replaying of two games from the sixth round of the English Football Association Cup ties yesterday, the decks were cleared for the semi-final round on March 23.

The teams in each case were as follows: Aston Villa versus Portsmouth at Highbury.
Bolton Wanderers versus Huddersfield Town at Liverpool.
Blackburn Rovers, beaten by Bolton Wanderers 2-1, and Huddersfield Town eliminated West Bromwich Albion 2-1. In each case the winners were playing at home.

Thousands were turned away from the grounds at Bolton, where 65,000 spectators saw the Wanderers beat Blackburn Rovers. The homesters were in rare form and within four minutes were assaulting the Rover goal from close quarters. Crawford, the Blackburn goalie, kicked out one shot, but Bolton recovered and netted. After a few minutes' play Bolton staged an offensive which ended in Butler going his second tally fifteen minutes from time. The Rovers fought desperately to recover the lost ground. Campbell hit the target for them following a penalty given against the Wanderers for a foul by Haworth, but that ended the scoring.

With the removal of West Bromwich Albion from the teams competing for the cup went the last minor team in the series. Forty thousand people jammed themselves into the Huddersfield grounds for the match. The first Huddersfield score came when Shaw, the West Bromwich back, faltered and Jackson slipped in and netted. West Bromwich responded and Wood beat both the Huddersfield backs and equalized. Huddersfield owed their immunity from further scoring against them for the rest of the half to their backs. The goal which proved to be the winner for Huddersfield was the result of a piece of brilliant play by Kelly.

Results of other football games played in the British Isles yesterday were:

SOCCER—English League, Third Division, Southern Section—Crystal Palace 2, Norwich 1.
Northern Section—Bradford City 5, Tranmere Rovers 0.
Scottish League, Second Division—Dundee United 5, Albion Rovers 1.
RUGBY UNION—Bridgend 3, Llanelly 11.
Devonport Services 11, Newton Abbot 7.

Saanich In Suprise Win Over Rennies

Tail-enders in Wednesday Soccer Humble Champs 4-3

Tooby Scores Winning Goal in Second Half; Navy-Hudson's Bay Game Cancelled

Springing the surprise of the season, Saanich United, tail-enders in the Wednesday Soccer League, yesterday scored a 4-3 victory over Rennie & Taylors, one of the best teams of the league, in a close battle at the Royal Athletic Park. Tooby, playing on the left wing for Saanich, netted the deciding counter in the latter part of the second half.

At the opening of the match, the bakers forced play to the suburban boys' end, and Taylor on the left wing sent in a nice shot that missed the corner of the net by inches. Davies, on the right wing, secured the ball on the goal kick, but sent it into Restall's arms. Play continued from end to end with Stonier and Hagen making good attempts for Saanich and the Rennies respectively.

Before the half closed, Saanich left winger, dribbled the ball through and shot, but Geddes got his foot to the ball and sent it out on the fly. Before the ball touched the ground, Blanco sent it forward for Saanich, sent it passed Geddes into the goal for the winners' second tally.

Shortly after Rennie made a concerted attack on the Saanich citadel, and Davis sent in a hard drive. Ash, Saanich fullback stopped the ball from roving in by using his hands and the bakers were awarded a penalty kick. Nex took the shot and put the ball into the corner of the net.

Several minutes later Blanco sent in another good shot which Geddes sprawled on the ground to save. Ralph rushed in from the wing and, but the ball rolled past the uprights.

Rennie tried hard to score as the game ended, but although they made several dangerous attacks, they were unable to get the ball past Restall in the Saanich net.

"Scotty" McKay refereed. The teams lined up as follows: Rennie, Hagen, Geddes, Tupman, Newman, Gilbert, Wright, Plater, Davies, Nex, Taylor, Hagen and Grange.

Saanich United—Restall, Ash, Barry, Moir, Love, Stonier, Tooby, Hawkes, Blanco, Tyson and Ralph.

The match between the Navy and Hudson's Bay was cancelled on account of the former being unable to field a team.

CHANCE TO EQUALIZE

The bakers were given a chance to equalize the count when Ash handled the ball in the penalty area during the closing minutes of the game. Nex took the shot, but missed the goal by feet.

Aston Villa Must Be Reckoned With In First Division

By PENALTY KICK

For two clear weeks there will be no cup interference to mar league soccer progress in either England or Scotland. Recognition of exacting schedules must be strictly enforced in both forms of competition, but when reappearances in cup draws are necessary the strain for those who are seeking promotion or avoiding relegation is increased to such an extent that even the most scientific and conscientious form of training is severely tested.

Imagine the predicament of the famous Blackburn Rovers, holders of the coveted silverware until such time as it becomes necessary to again place it in the care of the Football Association.

Naturally elated by this honor their pride has received a rude awakening, for while recovery of it appeared so near it was yet so far.

What of the double event? Blackburn Rovers cannot accomplish it, their visit to Bolton yesterday proved their cup Waterloo. Only two clubs in England have experienced the joy of being league champions and cup winners in any one year and only two in Scotland. Forty years ago Preston North End introduced the novelty as an innovation. Since then imitation has been striving for vain, but only once accomplished by that respected Midland organization—Aston Villa.

Across the border Celtic pride themselves in celebrating the double event on three separate occasions—twice in successive years. Glasgow Rangers enjoyed the novelty last year. Just now there are good prospects of the two countries being able to exchange congratulations on the double event—for one of them only the unexpected card possibly rob them of it. The championship of the Scottish League could not find a more peaceful repose than in the lockers of Glasgow Rangers. In this competition they have not yet this season been beaten and with a total of fifty points the chances for them to again accomplish the "hat-trick" are rosy. Had not Celtic's victory in the Glasgow League may now have been enjoyed the double "hat-trick."

Merit outstanding—Huddersfield Town won the English League three times in succession and in commemoration of this success The League presented them with a Commemorative Shield on June 4 of last year. In the preceding five years great success has attended Huddersfield's efforts, for they have been three champions and two runners-up—once to Newcastle and then to Everton. Last April they lost the cup by two goals and last May they lost the championship of the league by two points.

If Sheffield Wednesday are holding their breath for a last day's heyday, they are just as tenaciously pursuing them. And it is for the latter club that the prospects are brightest; they are relatively one point better off than the Rovers in a league sense. Sunderland are the Wednesday's nearest neighbors, but they have played more games than either the leaders or Aston Villa. True, Sunderland were the first senior side to score a half century of goals this year and bid fair to hit the century mark before any of their conferees, but the youthful Sheffield and team co-ordinators are keeping them well in the vanguard, for their assertion of power and enterprise has been the outstanding feature of interest in this season's championship contest.

After presenting their argument for better grounds the soccer committee were told by the city fathers that they would do all they could to improve the pitches but gave no intimation as to what they planned to do. The soccer officials want all the grounds, with the exception of the Royal Athletic Park, put into better condition.

It was suggested by Alderman E. S. Woodward that a last day's heyday on May 24, the proceeds to go towards repairing the fields, but this idea failed to meet with the approval of Mayor Herbert Anscomb. At the present time there are no vacant days open for tag days.

It is the intention of the parks board to inspect the different fields following which they will decide just how much work will be carried out on them.

Ex-King George And Trail Play to Tie

Vancouver, March 7.—Ex-King George, Vancouver senior amateur hockey champions, and Trail Smoke-eaters, West Kootenay titheholders, played to a 1-1 tie here last night in the first game of the provincial play-off series. The second game will be played here on Friday night.

must journey to Newcastle and Bolton Wanderers hope to collect a couple of points as a result of their visit to Sheffield. West Pans would certainly feel more comfortable with a few more goals and a few more points, and although a couple of games in hand, will not resume an attitude of leniency towards their visitors of Saturday—Blackburn Rovers.

The glorious Rangers continue in their glory for, although playing like the skilful machine they undoubtedly are, enjoy no immunity from those misadventures which must, and do, affect all great teams. Hibernians will travel to Glasgow on Saturday and their chance of extracting a couple of points from this talented club are very remote. Hearts are Rangers closest attendants and they also are at home to St. Johnstone. Motherwell travel to Kilmarnock and Celtic, having played one league game more than Rangers, are fifteen points and forty goals behind them, should have no trouble in continuing their quest for league honors at the expense of Raith Rovers. The latter team have lost three times as many games as they have won and sacrificed more goals than any team in the senior division. Aberdeen entertain Ayr United and Partick Thistle will visit the amateurs at Queen's Park.

Cardiff City, whose great handicap this season seems to be lack of funds and consequent lack of points must on present form be considered easy prey for Sheffield Wednesday, although such Sunderland were only able to beat them by a single goal on home ground last week. Leeds United will entertain Everton, and Leicester City considered the most polished team in the league, will be hosts to Manchester City.

Liverpool, who have nothing very serious to fear from relegation, will receive a visit from Wolverhampton Wanderers, who cannot afford to miss a single opportunity of advancement.

Fighter May Get Copyright on Name

New York, March 7.—Billy Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, who is training at Stillman's gymnasium here for a fight Monday night in Philadelphia, is thinking about getting a copyright on his name. A boxer styling himself "Young Billy Wallace" and billed as from Cleveland, was outpointed in Indianapolis Tuesday night and the better known Billy yesterday found himself besieged with inquiries as to how it happened.

In the Associated Press "fights Tuesday night," the "Young" was omitted from the beaten boxer's name. Plain Billy Wallace says his self-styled namesake comes from Youngstown, not Cleveland.

Emil St. Goddard Falls Across Line To Win Dog Derby

Hardy Young French-Canadian Boy, in Thrilling Finish, Captures 200-mile Non-stop Pas Classic After Drive Through Blizzard-swept Country; Earl Brydges is Second a Few Minutes Behind Winner; Both Mushers Unable to Speak at Finish.

The Pas, Man., March 7.—Northerners who watched in none-too-confident hope as Emil St. Goddard, favorite son of The Pas, broke from the starting line of The Pas dog derby with eight other mushers on Tuesday, breathed freely to-day. Defeated in his two Eastern appearances this season over "sprint" distances, the French-Canadian boy vindicated the pride of the Northland by finishing first in the gruelling renewal of the 200-mile non-stop classic of the bleak country.

Five times in succession now young St. Goddard has proved to be the class of Northern dog drivers by winning the annual event at the lumber town.

His first victory came after a brave battle over a 200-mile stretch, but the intervening three victories, until this year's triumph, were in races of 120 miles—split into three forty-mile-a-day laps. St. Goddard's winning time this year was 36 hours 59 minutes, nowhere near the record time made five years ago when "Shorty" Russick and his wolfhounds raced 200 miles in 23 hours 52 minutes. This year Russick failed to finish.

SCINTILLATION FAVORITE TO CAPTURE LINCOLNSHIRE

London, March 7.—C. W. Whitburn's four-year-old chestnut colt Scintillation by Lemberg, out of Attie Salt, has been installed as favorite for the Lincolnshire Handicap to be run at Lincoln March 20 at odds of 2-1 against. The colt will carry 90 pounds with Stephenson up.

Lord Beaverbrook's four-year-old brown colt, Misou, 85 pounds, and H. Stobart's four-year-old bay gelding, Umskopagaa, 98 pounds, are quoted at 100 to 7 against.

Harriet 109, Cornwallis 90, Nestorian 87, are quoted at 20-1 against.

Three horses, none of which had been expected to start, have been withdrawn from the handicap. Portland and Mailed Fist were withdrawn Tuesday night and Break of Day was scratched yesterday morning.

raced away in the face of a howling blizzard on Tuesday morning completed the long grind from The Pas to the Flin Flon Mine and return. Earl Brydges, another Pas entrant, who was far back in the standing when the race was two-thirds gone, battled his way through the weakening contenders to second place and finished only three minutes behind St. Goddard. The two Campbell brothers, Gabriel and Hector, forty-five minutes behind St. Goddard, had hung together for a considerable portion of the run and finished with Gabriel just two and one-half minutes ahead of his brother.

Stewart and McDonald were reported resting at a camp along the derby route yesterday.

No word has been received from Pranteau, Russick and Fleet, but it is believed they spent the night in a nearby camp and are expected to arrive here some time to-day.

COMPLETELY EXHAUSTED
Completely exhausted, bitten by the blustering storm that swept the course ever since they set out from here yesterday morning, first St. Goddard and a few seconds later Brydges fell across the finish line and were carried away by wildly cheering friends. Both mushers were so beaten by the raging, frigid weather that they were unable to speak.

The fight against odds that St. Goddard and Brydges had was evidenced by the fact that both carried dogs on their sleighs when they arrived here. The French-Canadian winner carried one of his six Northern huskies on his sleigh and Brydges was without the use of two. Both dog-teams were in a terribly weakened state, the powerful animals showing the strain they had undergone on the wind-swept trails of Manitoba's northland during the last thirty-six hours.

The Campbell brothers, Gabriel and Hector, concluded the long trek a few minutes before midnight and were given a wonderful reception by the thousands who continued to wait after having seen St. Goddard and Brydges safely home. Gabriel was timed at 11:54 and Hector at 11:54:45. Both young mushers were tired but apparently in good condition otherwise.

ONLY ONE CASUALTY

The only casualty as a result of the race occurred late last night when Bert Stewart, was forced to retire because of frozen feet. He is being taken care of, it is reported.

During the late hours of yesterday afternoon, reports stated that Hector Campbell was leading the parade of mushers by a safe margin, with his brother, Gabriel, in second position. St. Goddard at that time was said to be in third place. With his dogs tiring badly Brydges was not at that time considered in the running.

But the great heart of the youthful musher who had in past years swept over unbeaten trails in both eastern and western events with his famed half dozen huskies, could not be downed by one of the wildest storms that has ever raged the aspirants in The Pas Derby.

GODDARD MOVES AHEAD

With the Campbell brothers tiring and slowing the pace after having led for the greater part of the day and early evening, St. Goddard, closely followed by Brydges, moved forward rapidly. Several miles before the finish was reached they were battling for the glory and prizes that go to the winner.

New York Goalies Are the Best

JOHN ROSS ROACH

Montreal, March 7.—Goalies of the two New York hockey clubs, Roy Worters, of the Americans, and John Ross Roach, of the Rangers, led the net minders of the International and American sections, respectively, at the three-quarter mark in the National Hockey League race, according to statistics just released from the office of President Frank Calder.

Worters had played in twenty-eight games at the three-quarter mark and 1,156 shots had been launched against him, the third greatest number in the section. Only thirty shots eluded the small, keen-eyed guardian of the Americans' nets.

Roch, of the Rangers, who went to the champions in a trade for Chabot, had played in thirty-three games at the three-quarter mark, handled 1,313 shots and saved 1,271. This gave him the leading average of .968, only three points ahead of "Dolly" Dolson, Detroit.

The strength of the Boston Bruins defence is attested by the fact that only 1,075 shots were directed at "Tiny" Thompson and only fifty-nine goals were scored.

"Chuck" Gardiner, Chicago Black Hawks, holds the record for the greatest number of shots handled by goalies in either section. In all, the sharpshooters directed 1,360 shots at him and he stopped all except fifty-nine, an average of .956.

HORSE RACING

Tia Juana, March 7.—The Eureka Handicap was the feature event of yesterday's programme and furnished a surprise in Northampton, a beautiful brown colt, by St. James Meadows, II. After being shut off twice, once in the back stretch and again when going around the big turn, Charley Carroll's entry proved much the best of nine fancy-priced all-Eastern three-year-olds. Northampton, with "Jigger" Corbett at the controls, had to be the best horse on this occasion to win. Going down the far stretch Corbett had to apply the brakes when running on the inner rail. Around the last turn "Jigger" hustled Northampton back into prominence. Again he was given the "jam" and had to go into reverse to save himself a high dive over the fence. Nothing daunted, the intrepid little rider was at once back at his work. As the band straightened out Corbett shot at the rail for the third time. The move was a smart one, for Northampton and his pilot sailed through with a lead of two lengths. This was not cut down much by Tune In's noble try. Tune In was second and Zaccawasta third. Northampton's time was 1:11 3-5 for the six furlongs.

The alertness of Jockey Barrett on the biggest jolt to the midweek sports, who could see nothing but Broadmoor and Rolling Star. Broadmoor looked good for the most of the run through the straightaway. At the very end, Barrett brought Billy from nowhere and looked the jury in the eye first. Billy's reaction was $47.00, $17.50 and $12.80 straight, place and show mutuels.

Results follow:

Seattle Eskimos And Portland To Fight For Place

Seattle Eskimos and Portland Buckaroos will continue their fight for second place in the Pacific Coast Hockey League to-night, when the teams meet in the Portland arena. The return game of the home-and-home series will be played in Seattle to-morrow night.

The Eskimos are just half a game ahead of their Rose City rivals and each club has six games to play. In those six games either club must increase their lead to three games if they are to qualify outright for the championship play-off series with the Vancouver Lions.

A double victory for Seattle would practically eliminate Portland from any chance of making the play-offs. Anything short of that will in all probability mean a preliminary play-off for the right to meet Vancouver. The Buckaroos will be at full strength, while Seattle will be without the services of Max Sutherland, their star relief forward, who has a twisted ankle.

GIRL STOWAWAY IS PUT TO WORK

Father of San Francisco Society Runaway Girl Orders Captain to Put Her to Work

San Francisco, March 7.—Far on the briny deep, bound for the tropical isles of Tahiti, an eighteen-year-old San Francisco society girl, to-day was tasting of long-sought adventure by holystoning decks, lending a hand in the galley, or whatever it is that stowaways must do when discovered on big ocean-going liners.

The girl is Miss Hazel Cooke, substitute daughter of Mrs. William J. Kierdorf, wife of a prominent San Francisco banker, who in reply to a radio message from the skipper of the Union liner Tahiti, informing her father that the girl was a stowaway on his ship, flashed back the simple words, "put her to work."

A love for the sea, and a thirst for adventure which she had found lacking in the drawing-room, led the girl to board the liner at a pier here February 20 last, a few minutes before the vessel began its journey.

To her friends, the girl has often said that some day she would "stow away aboard a ship bound for some outlandish port."

However, she has crossed the ocean more than a dozen times, visiting the South Seas, China, India, Japan, and is as much at home in Shanghai as she is at Market Street.

At 10 o'clock on the night she boarded the Tahiti, with the steamship more than 200 miles from the port, the girl came out of her hiding place and reported to the captain that she was a stowaway. The captain growled, hemmed and hawed, and finally radioed her father, who until then had become alarmed at his daughter's absence from home.

A message from the captain of the Tahiti to the father of the girl yesterday said:

"Following your instructions to the letter, Miss Cooke is not much help in the galley, but by the end of the voyage she should be pretty good at bedmaking."

Corns

Lift Off—No Pain!

Hard corns, soft corns, corns between the toes and callouses lift right off! You'll laugh—it is so easy and doesn't hurt a bit!

Just drop "Freezone" on any tender, touchy corn. Instantly it stops aching; then shortly you just lift that old bothersome corn right off with your fingers. It works like a charm, every time. Seems magic!

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs only a few cents at any drug store. Try it!

Government Scored For Inactivity On Fish Conservation

Criticism of the inactivity of the Commissioner of Fisheries in regard to infractions of regulations for the conservation of fish were leveled at Hon. S. L. Howe by T. D. Pattullo in the Legislature yesterday when the accounts of the Fisheries Department were under review.

Mr. Pattullo also charged the commissioner with setting up monopolies by his recommendation to Ottawa that no more cannery licenses be granted and took issue with him when he stated that the department was awaiting the decision of the Privy Council on cannery licenses before formulating a policy.

The department held a watching brief for the Province, Mr. Pattullo said. Grave infractions of the regulations were taking place and apparently he had done nothing. What was the use, he asked, directing attention to international conventions on fish preservation and ignoring the "milking" of fish under his very nose. Fish were being mined as the timber of the Province was being mined and no word had been received from the Government that they were taking any steps to prevent it.

Mr. Howe was pressed both by Mr. Pattullo and Mr. Manson as to whether the Government had adopted a policy of "letting the canneries run as they please" or whether it was waiting for a decision of the Privy Council on the right of the Dominion or the Province to grant to the canneries the right of representation to the Dominion Government to issue no more licenses was made on the representation of cannery interests and if the Commissioner had received any assurance that the canneries would comply with the regulations for the conservation of fish.

Mr. Howe replied that the representations were made to Ottawa without any word from the canneries. Ottawa was asked not to issue any more licenses pending the Privy Council decision. He denied there would be any cannery monopoly. As soon as B.C. knows its status we will formulate a policy, he said.

Mr. Pattullo thought it was strange that no representations had been made to the commissioner by cannery interests as to the fact that the Commissioner of Fisheries. He thought a search of the files might show negotiations went through the deputy.

Mr. Manson claimed the Province had the right on the issuing of licenses and the Dominion had no right at all. That was what the Supreme Court of Canada and stood pending any other decision. As the Supreme Court was unanimous there was not much to be said. As it stood now it was wide open. Anybody could go into the cannery business. Action should be taken to prevent the government from doing it. He spoke against limitation of licenses and curtailing the industry. Conservation of fish should be effected by restricting the number of canneries. Fish had been "mined" for years in the face of protest by the late Hon. William S. Hall, who was Minister of Fisheries. He said that only one experiment by the Canadian Government in the past century of closing a stream for four years, had resulted in increasing the run, whereas the United States had got results by several methods. He urged the Minister to study these methods and see what could be done.

Premier Tolmie paid tribute to Hon. P. J. A. Curdin, Dominion Minister of Fisheries, who had been appointed. The Province was desirous of co-operating with the Dominion along the line of conserving and restoring this important industry. He said Mr. Pattullo agreed that the Dominion had done well to make a department of fisheries, but said the Province had its duty to perform also. He urged the Minister to study these methods and see what could be done.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, March 7.—The Panamanian minister here today announced that the Pacific Mail line, for the service between the Pacific Coast and the South Sea Islands, will be operated by O'Connor-Harrison Company, and left here for the Pacific Coast on March 22. The ship was turned over to her new owners upon her arrival at this port next month. Terms of the sale were kept private.

Due to delay caused by loading conditions in Central American ports, the Pacific Mail liner El Salvador, from New York, reported by wireless yesterday that she will not make port until early Sunday morning. Whether the Mexican situation at Mazatlan is partly responsible for the delay of the vessel was not revealed in the captain's radiogram.

John Dowdell, for the past fifteen years a resident of the United States, died at his home in Fruitvale yesterday after an illness of three days. He was survived by his widow and two children.

At this port she will discharge a load of general cargo will be discharged before the ship proceeds to Seattle. She will probably get away to the Sound port about midnight.

TWO NEW C.N. LINERS TO BE READY SOON

R.M.S. Lady Somers and R.M.S. Lady Rodney Last of Five Ships to Enter Service

Montreal, March 7.—The new Canadian National steamers Lady Somers will sail from Halifax on April 13 next, the first of the new vessels to go into commission under the terms of the agreement by which Canada has secured a fortnightly mail passenger and freight service between Canadian ports and Bermuda, the Bahamas and Jamaica. The Lady Rodney, in the second of the new vessels, will sail from Halifax on April 29. Each steamer will complete the voyage at Montreal and thereafter during the open season of navigation on the St. Lawrence these fine vessels will make the voyage from Montreal.

The Lady Somers and the Lady Rodney are practically sister ships to the Lady Nelson, the Lady Drake and the Lady Hawking now in service on the St. Lawrence route. The two former will carry first class passengers only, and special provision has been made for the carriage of bananas, other fruits and vegetables, requiring storage at special temperatures.

The Lady Somers on sailing from Halifax on her maiden voyage will proceed to the Cape Verde Islands, the Azores and return to Montreal, and her first sailing out of this port will be at noon Saturday, May 11, and all future sailings of steamers in this service from this port will be at the same hour.

The notable feature of the Lady Somers and the Lady Rodney is the provision for fruit storage which follows the most up-to-date system and is entirely new to vessels plying from Canadian ports. The banana space will allow of the carriage of 100,000 stems, and on arrival at the home port, special refrigerator cars designed for this trade, will run along side for expedited transfer and shipment.

The ship arrangements will allow of rooms at various temperatures, air cooling and brine cooling, and provision has been made for loading and unloading through the side.

The R.M.S. Lady Somers and Lady Rodney are of approximately 8,000 tons, the length overall is 438 feet, extreme breadth sixty feet, three inches, and a maximum draught of twelve feet. The hulls are of the three-island type, with a large bridge, noon and forecastle. The new ships have large funnels and two masts. The hulls are painted white with red bottom, and the funnel is painted in three bands of white and blue, suitably proportioned.

SAFETY MEASURES

The vessels have been constructed in accordance with all requirements of Lloyd's, the British Board of Trade and the Canadian Board of Steamship Commission. The safety measures provided are of the best practice in compliance with the International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea. The new vessels have been designed to carry 107 first class passengers. The interior decoration and furnishings of the accommodation have been carried out in the most possible manner, and each vessel follows an entirely different scheme of decoration. When these steamers are in service on the St. Lawrence route, they will be able to make a holiday trip from Montreal to Bermuda and return in ten days, and other attractive holiday tours will be made available.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, March 7.—The first vessel in the new service between North Pacific ports and Central American ports, the Pacific Mail liner El Salvador, from New York, reported by wireless yesterday that she will not make port until early Sunday morning. Whether the Mexican situation at Mazatlan is partly responsible for the delay of the vessel was not revealed in the captain's radiogram.

The carrier has already loaded grain at Vancouver and will complete with lumber from the West Coast. The ship is expected to arrive at Seattle on March 12.

BIG AMPHIBIAN HERE ON FIRST VICTORIA TRIP

Plane Which Will Be Used From Seattle to Juneau This Summer Brings Mail Here

After spending the night at Victoria, the first amphibian airplane ever to visit this city hopped off from the Home Oil Company's plane landing wharf, near the Rithet pier, this morning at 9.30 o'clock for the return trip to Seattle, having arrived here yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock with mail for the liner "Niagara." She is owned by the Gort Air Transport Company of Seattle and bears the name Alaskan, as it is planned to use her in service this summer between Seattle and Juneau, the capital of Alaska.

The Alaskan left Seattle at 4.23 o'clock yesterday afternoon and made the trip across in forty-seven minutes with Percy Barnes and Clayton Scott at the dual controls. Mr. Barnes is well known here, as he is the pilot of the mail plane which visits Victoria four and five times a week with mail for the liner "Niagara." There were a number of passengers in the plane on yesterday's trip, including Vern C. Gort, president of the Gort Air Transport Company, Graham Gordon, Seattle plane mechanic, and Howard Weaver, Portland flying enthusiast.

ALASKA SERVICE

Mr. Gort said yesterday that his company is negotiating with the United States Government to secure a contract for the carrying of mail between Seattle and Juneau. The service, he said, will commence about April 1, or as near that date as possible.

"We are also planning to carry passengers on that route," he said. "It is quite possible that our planes may make Victoria a port of call, as I understand that plans are now under way to make this city one of the few official airports of entry on the Coast. Should the Alaska service live up to anticipations, it is probable that the company may put on a regular service, bringing in Victoria as a regular port."

POWERFUL SHIP

The Alaskan is known to the flying world as a Leaning amphibian, and is similar to the type used by the United States navy on long cruises. Power is derived from a 350-horsepower Wright "Whirlwind" engine, which gives the ship a top speed of 130 miles an hour. The plane cost approximately $27,000. It will be possible for the machine to make the trip from Seattle to Juneau in eight hours. The distance is nearly 1,000 miles.

OBSERVER DOCKS; IMPORTER TO LOAD LUMBER MARCH 16

The Canadian National freighter Canadian Observer cleared for Vancouver this morning at 1.30 o'clock after discharging forty tons of general cargo at the Queen's Pier here from San Francisco and other California ports. She arrived at 11.30 o'clock last night, the captain reporting an uneventful voyage up the coast. The local offices of the C.N.R. expect the freighter Canadian Observer here on March 16 to take on 1,000,000 feet of Vancouver Island lumber for Halifax and other Atlantic ports. The importer will be here two or three days and will sail direct from this port for Halifax.

SWANLEY TO SAIL

After taking on 300,000 feet of lumber at the Rithet pier, King Brothers, local shipping agents expect to get the freighter Swanley away to Australia either late to-night or early to-morrow morning. She had been here since Tuesday.

Metropolitan Life Has Record Year—Is Owned by Policyholders—2,613,867 Are Canadians—Welfare Work Increasing.

With nearly three million policies in force in Canada, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company activities are of personal interest to practically every home in Canada. On the basis of the Dominion's present population the policies in force provide one for every third man, woman or child in the country. Since the policyholders actually own Metropolitan Life, a mutual company, each one is vitally concerned with the progress of the enterprise.

For this reason, the news that on every business day in 1928 the 26 million policyholders added a million dollars to the reserve fund, is particularly welcome. This great reserve fund is needed for the protection of the policyholders against the hazards of life and business, present and future. In the review of the year's activities attention is directed to the increasing interest taken in insurance. In old days insurance was taken out to take care of the breadwinners' dependents in case of death. While the original purpose is never lost sight of, life insurance today is largely and directly concerned with the business of living. It is arranged to provide education, to tide over accident and sickness idleness, and to enable the policyholders to build up a sound investment. Through group insurance employers and employees are working together under an ideal insurance plan, while business men are building needed credit for their business with life insurance policies. As the world's largest insurance company, Metropolitan is planning, creating and co-operating in these developments. Coincidentally, the Welfare Work being continued on a larger scale than ever. During 1928 between three and four million nursing visits were paid to Metropolitan policyholders. Of these 331,075 were visits to Canadian policyholders, being an average of over 1,100 visits a day for every working day in the year. Over forty eight million pamphlets on health subjects were distributed free, nearly three million of them being in Canada. Since the inauguration of the welfare work nearly three and a half million nursing visits have been made in the Dominion, while almost twenty five million health booklets have been given away free where they could be expected to do the most good. Over three and a quarter billions of insurance was written by Metropolitan in 1928, which makes the total outstanding over sixteen billion, a world record. In Canada over two hundred and twenty million dollars were written, and the total in force here is over eight hundred and fifty millions, which is not so very far from a billion dollars. A feature of increasing interest to every Canadian is the growth in Metropolitan's Canadian investments, which increased over $18,000,000 last year to $171,318,170. In the twelve months, payments to Canadian policyholders amounted to $12,940,046.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company

EVERY business day in 1928, the 26 million policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who are its sole owners, added a million dollars to the great reserve fund needed for their protection against the hazards of life and business — present and future.

ONE form of life insurance provides education for children at the very time when their education costs most... Another kind of policy tides over enforced idleness because of accident or sickness. Another form of policy, paid for in regular installments, is a sound financial investment, as well a protection.

Happily, more and more persons have a new understanding of what life insurance promises, what it can do and what it does do. They are learning that it does many different things equally well.

While the original purpose — to take care of the breadwinner's dependents in event of untimely death — has never been lost sight of, to-day life insurance is largely and directly concerned with the business of living.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is a mutual organization. It has no stock and no stockholders. Its wealth is owned solely by its Policyholders.

UNDER INJUNCTION
 The courts had upheld the power company and the mine was now operating because of an injunction it had obtained which allowed it to continue until the case could be settled by the Privy Council in London, said Mr. McDiarmid.

POWER TOPIC OF ADDRESS
 Vancouver, March 7.—Such corporations as the British Columbia Electric Railway Company and the West Kootenay Power and Light Company Limited have a virtual monopoly of public utilities and there are at present no legal means of forcing them to supply power to anyone they don't wish to serve, said F. A. McDiarmid, who is president of the city of Grand Forks in its fight with the West Kootenay Company. Mr. McDiarmid made the assertion in addressing a joint meeting of the civic and engineering bureaus of the Vancouver Board of Trade yesterday.

For hundreds of years, he said, the name of monopoly had stood for everything that was hurtful to the prosperity of the British people, and the evils in the heart of any monopoly were always the same and would continue as long as human nature remained the same.

In the present stage in the field of electricity it was a monopoly in the very nature of its business, said the speaker, because it would cause too much confusion to have too electric power companies competing in one city.

GOOD BUSINESS
 Mr. McDiarmid stated neither of the two corporations had mentioned under any obligation to supply service to a place it did not wish to serve and the only dictation they were subject to was what was good business for them. No monopoly dictated further than good business required, he said.

Answering the question put by himself as to whether such monopolies were harmful, the speaker cited two incidents:

One was the change in ownership of the B.C. Electric Railway Company. For many years that company had built up its physical values until the financial structure was $37,000,000 worth of physical value, he said. The English shareholders had sold out and taken that money, which had been contributed by those who had connected with the company for light, heat and street car services.

IN KOOTENAY DISTRICT
 The second incident he cited was the recent action of the West Kootenay Company. That company had a charter, he said, whereby it was to supply power to territory in a radius of fifty miles from Rossland. It had bought out other companies with the knowledge and consent of the Government, and he said that the company's activities to serve Grand Forks, Kelowna, Summerland, Peachland, Princeton and Copper Mountain.

The company was linked up with the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Trail, as the latter company controlled its stock issue, and it in turn was controlled by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, he said.

The Granby Mining and Smelting Company was dependent upon the West Kootenay Power Company for its power, without which it could not operate. It found it could ship its ore concentrates to the Tacoma smelter and save $5.00 a ton.

Mr. McDiarmid said the power company had informed the Granby Corporation that unless it shipped its concentrates to Trail it would discontinue the power and thus force the mine to close down.

Mr. McDiarmid said the power company had informed the Granby Corporation that unless it shipped its concentrates to Trail it would discontinue the power and thus force the mine to close down.

DEATH COMES TO DAVID BUIK AT DETROIT AFTER CAREER MARKED BY STRUGGLE, SUCCESS AND YEARS OF TRAGEDY.
 The death in Detroit Tuesday night of David Buik, founder of the Buick Motor Company, closed a chapter of the United States automobile industry's history that embraced vision, struggle, faith, triumph, eclipse and tragedy. Few in the motor car manufacturing world will fail to be touched by the pathos of his life story.

Last May a newspaper reporter in Detroit found Mr. Buik, of whose whereabouts and activities nothing had been published for a long period. The interview was recorded as follows on May 12, 1928:

Detroit, May 12.—David Buik, the man who founded the Buick Motor Company is living in Detroit in obscurity and comparative poverty.

His signature appears on the highways of every country on earth, gleaming on the radiators of more than 2,000,000 automobiles—but he cannot afford to own an auto himself.

WORKED AS INSTRUCTOR
 Nearly seventy-four years old, he is earning a meagre living as an instructor in the Detroit School of Trades. He teaches men the mysteries of internal combustion engines—some of the men he has trained are, perhaps working as mechanics in the mighty Buick factories. He gets down to the shop early and stays late, and he says, "I've got to keep on working—or starve."

In all the collection of strange tales that are told in Detroit, the automobile tale is no tale so strange as the tale of David Buik.

NO TELEPHONE
 Finding him is a hard job. He can't afford a telephone, so his name isn't in the directory.

Yet this man, whose name is world famous, but whose purse is thin, is earning a meagre living as an instructor in the Detroit School of Trades. He is grey, his body is slight, his face is deeply lined, but his eyes, that have seen the company he founded go on to greatness without him, are bright and cheerful. He does not seem defeated.

HIS OWN STORY
 Defeated? Sitting in the dingy anteroom of the trade school talking to this man, listening to him tell the story of his rise and his fall, hearing his own admission that the stock he once held would, if he owned it to-day, make him worth "many, many, many millions of dollars," I soon lost the feeling of pity with which I had entered. The giants of the automobile world are true giants that cannot be crushed, and David Buik, if you please, is one of them.

He told the story. Up to a certain point it is a repetition of the familiar Detroit formula.

Born in Scotland and brought to this country when a baby, David Buik grew up in Detroit, learned his trade, and as he entered middle life became a moderately prosperous maker of bathroom and plumbers' supplies and fittings. He had a small factory outside the town, and it was in 1893 he did his first work on the valve-

The chief thing is mental security. That's all money is good for—to fix you so you don't have to worry about your future."

He paused, and then he grinned.

TRIED TO FORGET PAST
 "Yet look at old Dave Buik," he said, and for the first time his voice became vibrant with emotion. "I'm not worrying. The failure is the man who stays down when he falls—the man who sits and worries about what happened yesterday, instead of jumping up and figuring what he's going to do to-day and to-morrow. That's what success is—looking ahead to to-morrow and forgetting the past!"

Once again David Buik paused and looked away. This was, he said, the first interview he had given in more than fifteen years, and I wondered if my own thought had transmitted it back to him—that the head of the Buick Motor Company, lodged in a luxurious office high above the city, would be much easier to find and much harder to talk to than an instructor in a trade school. Time was when every city editor in Detroit knew just where to find David Buik. To-day not one does.

"It's all right," said David Buik softly. "It's all right. Get that, I'm not feeling sorry for myself. Why should I? I've got to keep working. Of course, I haven't got a thing but this job; but I'm not worrying. I can take care of myself."

I thought at the moment that he was whistling to keep his courage up. The now I'm not so sure. The automobile city has had a number of kings, who have never been crushed because they have genuine, kindly stature; and David Buik—the grey-haired man with the eyes that wander away from you to look back through the mist of time to the day when he, too, had a throne, is one of them.

Mr. Buik continued to teach in the trades school at Detroit till a month ago, when he was taken to a hospital, where he died of cancer last Tuesday night.

I wouldn't want to be president or treasurer, all I'd want would be security—a feeling that I was all set for the rest of my life. I'm not after short cuts, I'm still strong and able. But you know, it's hard for a man of my age to be uncertain about the future. I've got to have a job."

This, too, was said without emotion. I looked about his little office. On the door was a motto, "No trials, no triumphs." Over the desk was an-

RESOURCES DEBATE ENDS IN COMMONS
 Ottawa, March 7.—After a stormy career, the Woodsword resolution on natural resources, in amended form, finally was passed by the House of Commons last night. Debate on the resolution and on the several amendments which followed its introduction had held up consideration of the budget for several days.

The resolution finally emerged in a very different form from that which it was originally introduced. As originally drafted and presented to the House by J. S. Woodsword, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre, it set forth "that, in the opinion of this House, no disposition of natural resources under the control of the Federal Government should be effective, until ratified by Parliament."

The resolution, as approved by the Commons, reads as follows:

"That in the opinion of this House, no further disposition of waterpowers under the control of the Federal Government in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta shall be made under the Dominion Waterpowers Act, but the said waterpowers shall be administered by the respective provinces under powers to be granted by this Parliament similar to the powers granted to the Province of British Columbia to administer the waterpowers in the Railway Belt, as set forth in the Railway Belt Water Act, 1912."

To the original resolution, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, acting Conservative Leader, moved an amendment limiting its application to "waterpowers" instead of to "natural resources." The Guthrie amendment precipitated further debate until Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative, Vancouver Centre, came forward with a sub-amendment.

The Stevens amendment met with the approval of the Government and the House, but the difficulties of the resolution were encountered were not done away with. T. W. Bird, Progressive, Nelson, Manitoba, offered a further amendment declaring waterpowers

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark
 By RUTH WAITE

Every woman with gray, faded or streaked hair is entitled to do something about it, for it is a woman's birth-right to retain her youthfulness and charm as long as she can. When a woman mentions gray hair to me, I don't hesitate to advise the use of a restorer and I recommend sage tea and sulphur.

A brew of common garden sage, when properly combined with sulphur, restores gray hair to its original color, lustre and beauty. So perfectly does it do the work that its use is undetectable. You may either prepare the mixture at home or buy it already prepared and ready to use. Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur is the name of the prepared article and it costs only 75c a bottle at druggists. Hence there's no need of your bothering to prepare the mixture yourself.

You simply moisten a comb or soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, one strand at a time. The very first application banishes the gray and one or two more sees the hair beautifully restored to its original life and color. One would be surprised if she or he knew of the thousands who use this preparation.

Water Board To Fix Power Rates In B.C.

Will Also Be Given Right to Say When and Where Power
Must Be Supplied

Power Companies Demand
Changes Before New Legislation Reaches House

The Provincial Water Board will be given virtual control of public utility operations, in so far as power rates are concerned, according to a policy outlined by the Provincial Government to power companies at a conference here this week.

Under amendments to the Water Act drafted by the Government, the board would be empowered not only to fix power rates in case of dispute, but also to decide when and under what conditions power companies must supply power to those desiring it.

Power companies raised strong objections to some features of the new legislation and it is believed the bill will be amended along the lines desired.

OBJECT TO PRESSURE
The chief objection of the power companies is to an arrangement which they assert would force them to supply power at great distances without any guarantee that power consumption would continue and so give them an opportunity of recovering their investment. They demand that before they supply power to any consumer they shall be guaranteed a reasonable return on their investment for a reasonable period.

The power companies also object to another important principle incorporated in the new amendments under which discrimination in power rates is specifically forbidden. In practical operation it is argued there must be discrimination in rates. As an example of this, power company representatives explained that during the middle of the day in Vancouver the load on power stations is light it is possible to give ice manufacturing companies low rates. It is better to use power in this way for industrial purposes than to leave it unused, it is argued. Under the new legislation, as interpreted by power companies, such rates would be considered discrimination and would be prohibited.

The Government will consider these objections before introducing the Water Act amendments into the House.

Saanich Will Pay More to Key Teachers

Experienced teachers in Saanich will receive higher maximum salaries as a result of adoption last night by the school board of increases recommended recently by the Saanich section of the Victoria and District Teachers' Association.

There will be no changes in minimum salaries.

The annual increments will not be raised, but will continue on a longer time, as an encouragement to the most valued members of the staff to continue with Saanich.

The increases will come into effect with the new school year on September 1, and will add $480 to the salary list this year, twelve teachers benefiting. In 1930 the additional cost will be about $1,000.

PLANT CARE IS OUTLINED

H. O. English Addresses
Horticultural Society
Monthly Meeting

The Victoria Horticultural Society held its regular monthly meeting at the City Hall last night with Fred Landsberg presiding.

H. O. English of the staff of Victoria High School, outlined to the society some of the vital factors dealing with the production of Spring and Summer crops, also briefly referring to soil preparation.

In his opening remarks he made the statement that almost any vegetable could be grown on any ground, although they may not be of the best quality. Dealing with the production of potatoes he advised the rotation of crops, the using of the right variety adapted to the soil, and the ploughing in or digging in of a green crop which would grow a good crop. The quantity and quality of the potatoes.

In the growing of tomatoes, good plants were necessary, he said. Proper care taken at the time of transplanting would insure the grower a good crop. The system of feeding was outlined with the advice that not too much cultivation be done.

Dealing with the growth of corn, the time to use fertilizer was when the corn were about six inches high, Mr. English said, advising against the removal of suckers.

Vegetables of the "brassica" type were touched upon by the speaker who also spoke on the upkeep of lawns. Numerous questions were asked at the termination of his address, out of which additional information was gathered.

Winners in the monthly competition of the society were: Floral, first, T. E. Astley; second, T. Deveson.

British Clubs Conduct Many Public Duties

Rotary Club Hears of Remarkable Activities of Bristol Rotarians

Illustrating the activities of the Rotary Clubs of Great Britain, Rev. M. W. J. Bruce, who recently returned from the Motherland, this afternoon told Rotarians lunching at the Empress Hotel of successes attained by the Bristol Rotary Club. He also gave sidelights upon the interests of Rotarians in London, Cardiff, Newport and Liverpool.

The Bristol Rotarians have successfully launched an exhibition of the handicraft of boys and girls attending school, and have improved the output greatly by sending Rotarians, skilled in trades on lecture tours of the schools of Bristol, said Rev. M. Bruce.

The big brother movement had recently been revived by the Bristol club, said the speaker, after the model found successful in handling needy children in the years following the war.

RUN FAIR AND THEATRE
The annual exhibition at Bristol is managed by the Rotary Club and is most successful, related Rev. Mr. Bruce. A Little Theatre is operated by subsidiary company organized by the Rotary Club, and is making substantial profits after developing a great following of patrons. Of the 200 plays produced since the inception of the Little Theatre, sixteen were first presentations. Collections for charitable purposes, since the founding of the Rotary Club, had totaled 215,000, Rev. Mr. Bruce stated.

MINERS SUFFER
In the course of a visit to South Wales, the speaker had found the unemployed miners to be suffering greatly. A campaign was in progress to collect clothes for the miners, and a worker had stated, "You have no idea of the number of top hats, and the occasional fur coat, contributed. Of what use is a top hat to a destitute miner needing boots and food?"

Recalling that Rotarians of London are organizing a great hotel for visiting members, Rev. Mr. Bruce asked, "Why cannot the service clubs of Victoria get together and establish one big centre for all our activities?"

WRECKING CARS
Experiences in the automobile wrecking business were recounted by Arthur Brown, with a detailed description of a detailed system of classifying the hundreds of thousands of good parts retrieved in the junking process.

The Rotary Club will co-operate with the Dr. O. M. Chapter, I.O.D.E. in organizing a bridge drive on April 12 at Amphion Hall. The Rotary Club will be responsible for sixty of the hundred tables.

The milk fund of the chapter will be given the milk fund of the chapter.

Supra High Court Judge Visits City on Way to England
Paper Manager Arrives to Give Movie Talk on Product

Sir Alfred Young, judge of the High Court of the Fiji Islands, is in the city to-day, having returned from Vancouver to spend a short time in Victoria before proceeding to Great Britain. He is registered at the Empress Hotel to-day.

Sir Alfred informed The Times this morning that his plans "were indefinite." He said he was making his first trip in six years to England.

Sir Alfred arrived March 1 from Suva by the liner Niagara and proceeded direct to Vancouver. From this city he plans to go home overland and by the Atlantic route.

Sir Alfred has been Chief Justice of the High Court of Fiji and Judicial Commissioner of the Western Pacific since 1923. He joined the Colonial service in British Honduras in 1900 and has served in various capacities in the Leeward Islands, British West Indies, from 1921 to 1922.

Ernest G. Rolph advertising manager for the Howard Smith Paper Mills Limited, of Montreal, with an Associated Screen News film depicting scenes of a cruise around the world, which he will show while staying here, arrived in the city to-day from the East.

He will be joined here to-day by George A. Davidson, sales manager of the Montreal company, who is making the trip via the Panama Canal and is expected from San Francisco to-night by the steamer Dorothy Alexander.

"Around the World With Progress Bond" is the title of the moving picture which will be given a private showing before Victoria Rotarians at the Empress Hotel to-morrow evening. The film shows the processes of sulphite paper manufacture with a film world tour for entertainment.

Dr. W. H. Smith of the Winnipeg medical profession, accompanied by Mrs. Smith and their daughter, Muriel, arrived from the East yesterday and are staying at the Empress Hotel. They are planning to remain in Victoria for at least a month.

THE OLD ORDER CHANGES

By DAVID LYALL

"I'm going to marry Mary Freeland," said Hope simply and without the smallest surprise, and her kind eyes overflowed. Then she raised herself on tiptoe, kissed Manning, and ran out of the room.

CHAPTER XXII

Freeland had served on the Town Council of Basingfold for seven years and had been several times invited, and indeed urged, to accept the mayoralty. Suitable candidates for that responsible but sometimes thankless job were getting scarce. Since the war it was almost going begging. In Basingfold as elsewhere there were big problems arising out of abnormal conditions, housing problems, financial problems, industrial unrest and strife, unemployment, grievances of demobilized and disabled men all requiring wise, just and capable handling.

It is always an easier task to stand and criticize than tackle such responsibilities and Freeland had stood aside. He had not much enjoyed his service on the corporation. He had all the really capable man's impatience of slow movement, talk leading nowhere, petty jealousies, and all the other factors which detract from the sum of efficiency and retard progress. The one bright spot in his proposed removal to Gorham had been that he would get clear away from all his civic responsibilities. This was a matter of generally expressed regret among his fellow members among whom he was, if not popular, owing to his frank outspokenness at certain crises of the civic life, at least respected.

Just lately, however, there had awakened in him an uneasy sense that by merely turning his back upon responsibility a man does not necessarily get rid of it. The town was just then foundering in the almost hopeless morass of a big housing scheme which so far did not seem to offer much prospect of realization.

And the people were crying for houses, the scandal of overcrowding was becoming more and more insistent and was the cause of half the unrest. A man who has a reasonably comfortable home, especially if it is endowed with a bit of garden ground for his leisurely moments, is seldom found active either in desire or intentions to turn down the Constitution. It is so largely a matter of more equal distribution of the common good of life that all other remedial measures apart from it will of necessity fail.

Freeland had known this all his life, because he had vivid memories of his own hard fought happy youth, of dimmer days and overcrowded nights caused not by ill-doing or extravagance, but simply because his father, an industrious, sober man, could not find enough to keep his considerable family in comfort. That they had all died excepting Robert who had possessed a certain toughness of constitution, proved that there was something in the matter with the conditions in which they lived. That they were not constitutionally very strong had only emphasized the need for special care. And the Freeland children had been pre-eminently worth saving, they were of the quality which makes a valuable asset to the State.

That Granny had accepted the hardships and sorrows of her lot cheerfully did not mean that she did not feel them nor yet apportion the blame properly. Hers had been the more active brain, the higher intelligence. Had she been in later days, she would have been in the very forefront of the fight for more equality, and the true liberty born of right conditions of existence. As it was, she had guided and informed the one son she had saved for the State, and to her was largely owing the excellent conditions under which the people lived in his employment. Her interest, her criticism, her suggestions were inexhaustible. It was with his mother and not his wife that Freeland discussed every step in his business life and progress. Had he been married to a woman like her or like his own daughter Mary, a woman of vision and power coupled with womanly sweetness, he would long since have taken his place among those who have in them the makings of good government. A man, speaking generally, only achieves the amount of success his wife permits. This was true of Freeland's inner life rather than his outward. He had had a lonely uphill fight with conscience, and the network of welfare by which he had surrounded and guarded his employees' interests long before the word had been adopted by and insisted on by the State had never met with Harrie's approval. She was pleased when he was elected to the Town Council solely because she imagined that some uplift might come of it. But as the years went by, and he became more and more lukewarm in it and refused steadily to stand as mayor, her interest slackened and she often referred to him contemptuously as the Squabbling Board.

It was his interest in the housing scheme, his determination to do something to remove or at least to mitigate the evil which an influx of new workers had rendered acute in the town which caused Freeland to inform his colleagues when the mayor's office came under discussion in October, that he would stand.

At the same time the subject of two Labor members offering for election to the council came up for discussion. It was being strenuously opposed by the members who were mostly business men, with considerable interest in the place. Freeland listened for a little while to the discussion saying nothing as was his wont, he was indeed the most silent member of the corporation, and the local press had seldom uttered a word of his report from the weekly meeting. Consequently when he did speak they all listened, for it was generally found that he had something to say.

"I'm listening, gentlemen," he said quietly, "and not agreeing with what you say, at least with very little of it. The reproach hurled at Labor is that it can't govern. Well, it must be a chance to learn. I've always thought this corporation, and others I could name, is not representative enough. I think that one of the very best things that could happen to us would be the admission of a little new blood. Labor blood for preference since that's the adjective you've used. The only way to get understanding peace in these times is to let the folk most affected have full representation. I'll do my best to help the Labor members to get in. If I'm to be mayor, I want them here to do their bit and help shoulder the town's responsibilities."

These measured remarks caused a mild sensation but were listened to with respect though one or two tittered.

"It's a hornet's nest you're bringing about our ears, Councillor," said Josiah Caulfield, one of the old staunch conservatives who wanted to carry on in immemorial ways, and was sadly troubled by the speed with which events moved in these go-ahead times.

"Anything's better than the droning of insects that don't do anything but drone," retorted Freeland, a trifle irritated by having given two and a half valuable hours to a meeting which had accomplished little or nothing. "We've droneed too long here. A few stings in the tail will maybe help us to get a move on."

"Then you have no objections to serve with William Raikes?" asked Mr. Caulfield, his tone of strong disgust indicating how he regarded the chief hope of the Labor Party in Basingfold.

"None at all, Raikes is a very good chap, and I will say this for him. He gives an honest day's work for a day's wage, and he has brains forby. I'd welcome William Raikes and Jimmy Barnes his colleague. But it's Raikes we'll have to reckon with. I hope they'll get in. I promised Raikes only this morning I'd speak at his meetings for him."

These words and Freeland's very firm attitude caused a perceptible revulsion of feeling in favor of the Labor members.

It was impossible to deny knowledge or experience to Robert Freeland, who had over two hundred employees at Coppetts Mill and its extension. Individual members regarded him with a new kind of curious interest.

His daughter's engagement to the Squire of Marlocks was announced in the following week. It might have been expected that vested interests would have claimed his first allegiance. Personalities were not always absent from the corporate meetings, when feelings became a little heated, but nobody dared somehow to make personal remarks to Freeland. Something austere and remote about the man forbade it. He had undoubtedly put a new complexion on the Labor candidature, however, and in the subsequent voting for the mayoralty, he came out with a large majority. First one way and then the other, and the wind never stopped blowing long enough so Uncle Wiggily could get up and go in.

It was impossible to deny knowledge or experience to Robert Freeland, who had over two hundred employees at Coppetts Mill and its extension. Individual members regarded him with a new kind of curious interest.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I'm quite sensible of the honor you've done me and I am proud to accept the position. I may just say here that my reasons for refusing it last year and the year before were ill-considered. I've since found I did not want to be bothered with the thing. I'm so constituted that if I take a thing on I have to see it through, and the man who is Mayor of Basingfold, or for that matter of any other town of this size in the next year or two, has his work cut out. On what I do, more especially regarding getting houses for folk in the next year, more may depend than we can see at the moment. I'm for forging ahead, without consulting the Government. Our past experience of them has been that they hindered progress instead of anything else. They've been shocked with their own officialdom."

"You'll maybe find yourself in hot water, Robert, before you're done," said Thomas Marlett, the Town Clerk, facetiously.

THE ANIMATES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The little peaches stopped their dance. Then Clowny said, "Now watch me prance. I'm pretty good at stepping, as you'll very shortly see. Why, I can two-step, waltz and hop and jig a bit before I stop. Just ask the other Times. They will all agree with me."

So, all the peaches gathered round while Clowny hopped up to the ground. "Here goes," he shouted loudly. "I will do a highland fling!" He jumped and kicked his feet in air. And landed safe and sound, and square in front of all the peaches who thought it a clever thing.

"Go on, and do some more," cried one. "We think that this is heaps of fun." But Clowny said, "Oh, not today I've had enough for now." One peach then said, "Say, why don't you go roaming like you always do. If you seek interesting spots, you'll find them. I'll allow."

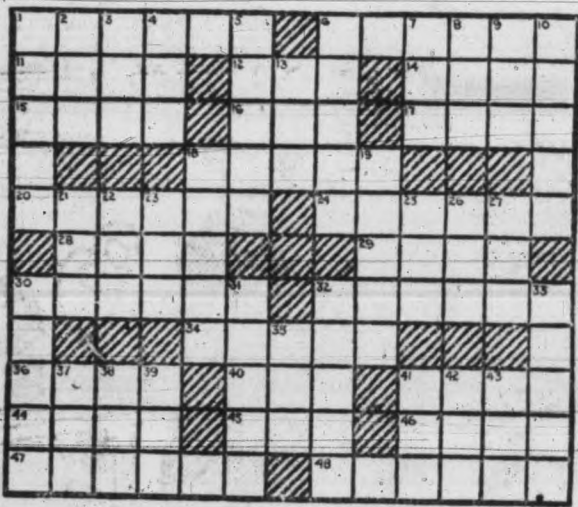

"You're right," cried Scouty. "Come, let's go. Why, I feel certain that I know that we will not be sorry that we set out for some thrills. We can't see very far from here, but no doubt something nice is near, and we are bound to find it if we hike across the hills."

They bid the peaches all good-bye, and Clowny calmly stopped to sigh. Said he, "We hate to leave you 'cause you've been real nice to us. But after all, we can't stop here. It's up to us to seek new cheer. As long as we must move on, there's no use to start a fuss."

Not far away the Times found a stretch of very rocky ground. "I wish that we could see a cave," said Clowny with a grin. And then he added, "Goodness me, that is the very thing I see. The big black hole's a cave door, and I'm going to walk right in."

To-morrow's Horoscope

FRIDAY, MARCH 8, 1929

Mingled good and evil influences will be apparent to-day, according to astrology.

which finds the planetary government likely to cause persons to work at cross purposes. Women are to find just their right place in the new order of things, astrologers foretell, and they will develop the finer, gentler, lovelier attributes of femininity, it is prophesied.

Merchants and manufacturers should be careful while this "configuration" prevails.

The stars prophesy for many a great impetus of business. Women should not pedal most of their ambitions and activities under this way which makes for sudden changes of mood.

It is not an auspicious day for asking favors or for any sort of gesture that implies obligation.

Quarrels may be easily brought about to-day which is most threatening to domestic happiness. Under this government of the stars it is well to wait patiently for right opportunities. This is most important for all who seek political preferment.

This is read as a lucky day for association with persons who wield power over others, but it is not favorable for asking for positions or for any sort of benefits.

The Winter quarter, being subject to Saturn, Mars and Uranus, brought severe weather that probably will be followed by an extraordinarily backward Spring in many places.

All the signs seem to preface success for the biggest enterprises and encouragement for projects that are gigantic possibilities.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have good fortune through letters or legacies.

They should be careful, nevertheless, in all financial matters. Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly fortunate all through their careers. The subjects of this sign generally are very ambitious and inclined to be extravagant.
